OCPE Pesticide Applicator Category 7A General and Household Pest Control Exam Sample Questions (Q26-Q31):

NEW QUESTION # 26

Lice infestations are best treated by a:

- A. Doctor or public health official
- B. Residual pesticide treatment
- C. Heat treatment

Answer: A

Explanation:

Lice infestations (e.g., head lice) are a public health concern and are best treated by a doctor or public health official using FDA-approved pediculicides or non-chemical methods like combing. The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A(Chapter 7: Lice) notes that lice treatments are typically medical, not structural pest control, and fall outside the scope of Category 7A applicators. Option B (residual pesticide treatment) is not appropriate for lice on humans. Option C (heat treatment) may be used for items like bedding but not directly for lice infestations on people.

NEW QUESTION # 27

Which of the following rodents is considered to live in colonies rather than individual territories?

- A. White-footed mouse
- B. Norway rat
- C. House mouse

Answer: B

Explanation:

Norway rats (Rattus norvegicus) are social rodents that live in colonies with a hierarchical structure, often nesting in burrows or building basements. The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A(Chapter 8: Rodents) describes their colonial behavior. Option A (white-footed mouse) and Option C (house mouse) are more solitary or live in smaller family groups, not large colonies.

NEW QUESTION # 28

The IPM style of pest control includes:

- A. A reduction of pesticide use
- B. Pre-established pesticide applications according to a schedule
- C. One-time reactive pesticide applications

Answer: A

Explanation:

Integrated Pest Management (IPM) focuses on sustainable pest control by minimizing pesticide use and integrating multiple control methods (e.g., cultural, mechanical, biological). The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A(Chapter 4: IPM) highlights that IPM aims for a reduction of pesticide use through prevention and non-chemical methods. Option A (pre-established applications) contradicts IPM's reactive, need-based approach. Option B (one-time reactive applications) may be part of IPM but does not capture its broader goal of reducing pesticide reliance.

NEW QUESTION # 29

The second most common cause of pesticide poisoning to applicators is:

- A. Fire
- B. Inhalation
- C. Dermal exposure

Answer: B

Explanation:

The second most common cause of pesticide poisoning for applicators is inhalation, as pesticides can be inhaled as vapors, mists, or dusts during mixing or application, especially in enclosed spaces. The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A(Chapter 3: Pesticide Safety) notes that inhalation exposure often follows dermal exposure (the most common cause, see Question 18) in frequency. Option A (fire) is not a common cause of poisoning, though it poses other risks. Option C (dermal exposure) is the most common cause, not the second.

NEW QUESTION # 30

The ____ stage of the flea feeds on blood.

- A. Adult and larva
- B. Adult
- C. Egg and larva

Answer: B

Explanation:

Only the adult stage of a flea feeds on blood, typically from a host like a pet or human. Flea larvae feed on organic debris and flea feces (dried blood), not directly on blood. The General Pest Management:

Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A(Chapter 7: Fleas) details this life cycle. Option B (adult and larva) is incorrect, as larvae do not feed on blood. Option C (egg and larva) is incorrect, as eggs are non-feeding, and larvae do not consume blood.
