CompTIA Data+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q77-Q82):

NEW QUESTION # 77

Refer to the exhibit.

Given the following graph:

Which of the following summary statements upholds integrity in data reporting?

- A. Product D should be promoted more than the other products in all strategies.
- B. Sales are approximately equal for Product A and Product B across all strategies.
- C. While Strategy 2 does not result in the highest sales of Product D, over all products it appears to be the most effective.
- D. Strategy 4 provides the best sales in comparison to other strategies.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Strategy 4 provides the best sales in comparison to other strategies. This is because the total sales for Strategy 4 are the highest among all the strategies, as shown by the black line. The other statements are not accurate or do not uphold integrity in data reporting. Here is why:

Statement A is false because sales are not approximately equal for Product A and Product B across all strategies. For example, in Strategy 1, Product A has more sales than Product B, while in Strategy 3, Product B has more sales than Product A.

Statement C is misleading because it does not account for the difference in scale between the products. While Strategy 2 has the highest total sales among all products, it does not necessarily mean that it is the most effective for each product. For instance, Product D has very low sales in Strategy 2 compared to other strategies.

Statement D is biased because it does not provide any evidence or justification for why Product D should be promoted more than the other products in all strategies. It also ignores the fact that Product D has the lowest sales among all products in most of the strategies.

NEW QUESTION # 78

Given the following graph:

Which of the following summary statements upholds integrity in data reporting?

- A. Product D should be promoted more than the other products in all strategies.
- B. Sales are approximately equal for Product A and Product B across all strategies.
- C. While Strategy 2 does not result in the highest sales of Product D, over all products it appears to be the most effective.
- D. Strategy 4 provides the best sales in comparison to other strategies.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 79

Which of the following is the median of the number set: 3, 7, 5, 6, 9?

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

Answer: A

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth

The median is the middle value in a sorted list of numbers. The steps to determine the median are:

Sort the numbers in ascending order: 3, 5, 6, 7, 9

Find the middle value: Since there are five numbers, the middle value is the third one: Median = 6 Option A (5): Incorrect. 5 is not the middle value.

Option B (6): Correct. 6 is the middle value in the sorted list.

Option C (7): Incorrect. 7 is not the middle value.

Option D (9): Incorrect. 9 is the highest value, not the median.

NEW QUESTION # 80

What R package makes it easy to work with dates?

- A. Stringr.
- B. Datemath.
- C. Lubridate.
- D. ggplot.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

Lubridate is an R package that makes it easier to work with dates and times.

NEW QUESTION # 81

A data analyst is attempting to understand how ice cream consumption is affected by different attributes, such as cost, temperature, and income level. Which of the following regression analyses should the data analyst perform to understand this relationship?

- A. Polynomial
- B. Cox
- C. Ordinary least squares
- D. Logistic

Answer: C

Explanation:

answer: B. Ordinary least squares

Ordinary least squares (OLS) is a type of linear regression that is used to fit a regression model that describes the relationship between one or more predictor variables and a numeric response variable. Use when: The relationship between the predictor variable(s) and the response variable is reasonably linear. The response variable is a continuous numeric variable¹.

In this case, the data analyst is interested in understanding how ice cream consumption (the response variable) is affected by different attributes, such as cost, temperature, and income level (the predictor variables).

Assuming that these variables have a linear relationship, OLS can be used to estimate the coefficients of the regression equation that best fits the data. OLS can also provide measures of goodness-of-fit, such as R-squared and adjusted R-squared, and test the significance of the coefficients using t-tests and F-tests².

Option A is incorrect, as logistic regression is used to fit a regression model that describes the relationship between one or more predictor variables and a binary response variable. Use when: The response variable is binary - it can only take on two values¹. Ice cream consumption is not a binary variable, but rather a continuous numeric variable.

Option C is incorrect, as Cox regression is used to fit a regression model that describes the relationship between one or more predictor variables and a survival time response variable. Use when: The response variable is the time until an event of interest occurs, such as death, failure, or recovery³. Ice cream consumption is not a survival time variable, but rather a continuous numeric variable.

Option D is incorrect, as polynomial regression is used to fit a regression model that describes the relationship between one or more predictor variables and a numeric response variable. Use when: The relationship between the predictor variable(s) and the response variable is non-linear¹. If there is no evidence of non-linearity in the data, polynomial regression may not be appropriate, as it may overfit the data and produce unreliable estimates.
