NEW QUESTION # 86

When a Virtual Service is configured for Layer 4 load balancing, which of the following information is available to the Service Engine for making load balancing and persistence decisions?

- A. Source and Destination IP Address and Port
- B. SSL/TLS Session ID
- C. HTTP Headers (e.g., User-Agent)
- D. URI Path

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 87

Which Network Security Policy action is valid?

- A. Continue
- B. Redirect
- C. Send Local Response
- D. Rate Limit

Answer: D

Explanation:

Avi Load Balancer Network Security Policies operate at the network security layer and are used to control whether traffic is accepted, discarded, denied, or rate-limited before higher-level HTTP processing occurs.

Broadcom's Avi documentation specifically describes Network Security Policy behavior as determining whether a connection should be accepted, discarded, or rate-limited. Because of this, Rate Limit is a valid Network Security Policy action. "Send Local Response" and "Redirect" are HTTP-layer actions that belong to HTTP policies, not Network Security Policies. "Continue" is commonly associated with policy flow processing in other policy types but is not the correct Network Security Policy action in this question.

Therefore, the valid action from the listed options is Rate Limit .
