CIPS Socially Responsible Warehousing and Distribution Sample Questions (Q47-Q52):

NEW QUESTION # 47

Organizations need to be responsible for the activities throughout their supply chains in order to be successful in a globalized, fast-changing world.

- A. TRUE
- B. FALSE

Answer: A

Explanation:

In a globalized, dynamic economy, organizations must oversee their entire supply chain to ensure success. The CIPS L3M6 module stresses that responsibility for supply chain activities-covering environmental impact, ethical sourcing, and compliance-is critical. Globalization increases scrutiny from consumers, regulators, and media, while rapid changes (e.g., climate policies, technology) demand adaptability. For instance, a firm ignoring supplier emissions risks reputational damage and regulatory penalties, undermining competitiveness. Conversely, responsible management enhances resilience, brand value, and market access, making this statement true. This aligns with LO2's focus on environmental accountability across supply networks.

NEW QUESTION # 48

The CDP has 4 dimensions. What are they?

- A. Discovery, awareness, morals, and leadership
- B. Disclosure, awareness, management, and leadership

- C. Disclosure, awareness, morals, and leadership
- D. Discovery, awareness, management, and leadership

Answer: B

Explanation:

The CDP (Carbon Disclosure Project) is a global disclosure system that helps organizations measure and manage their environmental impacts. It operates on four key dimensions: disclosure, awareness, management, and leadership. These dimensions represent a progression:

- * Disclosure: Reporting environmental data transparently.
- * Awareness: Understanding the organization's environmental impact.
- * Management: Taking steps to mitigate those impacts.
- * Leadership: Demonstrating best practices in environmental stewardship.

These align with the CDP's methodology for assessing organizations' environmental performance, as recognized in the CIPS L3M6 framework under sustainability reporting.

NEW QUESTION # 49

A holistic approach that considers environmental, social, and economic factors together when entering any business relationship is known as what?

- A. Business Sustainability
- B. Collective Sustainability
- C. Corporate Sustainability
- D. Associated Sustainability

Answer: C

Explanation:

Corporate Sustainability refers to a holistic approach integrating environmental (e.g., resource use), social (e.g., labour practices), and economic (e.g., profitability) factors into business relationships. The CIPS L3M6 module defines this as a strategic framework for long-term organizational success and stakeholder value.

NEW QUESTION # 50

_____ is the intentional change of land use from natural or semi-natural form to use by populations or industry.

- A. Ground Claim
- B. Land Claim
- C. Ground Take
- D. Land Take

Answer: D

Explanation:

Land Take is the deliberate conversion of natural/semi-natural land (e.g., forests) for human or industrial use (e.g., factories). The CIPS L3M6 module defines it in LO2 as an environmental impact of supply chain expansion, often increasing emissions and habitat loss. Other terms are less specific or incorrect, making "Land Take" the precise concept.

NEW QUESTION # 51

There is no law to control noise pollution.

- A. FALSE
- B. TRUE

Answer: A

Explanation:

Laws to control noise pollution exist globally and nationally, contradicting the statement. The CIPS L3M6 module references examples like the UK's Control of Pollution Act 1974 and EU noise directives, which set limits on acceptable noise levels (e.g., decibels from transport or industry). These regulations mandate mitigation measures (e.g., noise barriers, curfews) and penalties for non-compliance, ensuring environmental protection. In procurement, such laws influence equipment choices and site operations, aligning with LO2's focus on regulatory impacts on supply chains. The presence of these laws makes the statement false.
