HITRUST Certified CSF Practitioner 2025 Exam Sample Questions (Q137-Q142):

NEW QUESTION # 137

Management has asked you to scope out an assessment including your entire network. What are some examples you may see listed as a primary scoping component?

- A. Oracle database
- B. Server
- C. Hypervisor
- D. Network attached storage device
- E. Smoke detectors

Answer: A,B,C,D

Explanation:

Primary scoping components are systems, applications, and infrastructure directly involved in processing, storing, or transmitting sensitive information. Examples include hypervisors (supporting virtualized systems), servers (hosting applications and data), databases like Oracle (storing structured data), and network attached storage (NAS) devices (storing files). These are all core elements of an IT environment subject to assessment.

By contrast, smoke detectors are physical safety devices, not considered primary scoping components for HITRUST. Physical safeguards like detectors may fall under facility security, but they are not tested as primary IT components. Proper identification of primary scoping components is critical to defining the assessment boundary and ensuring appropriate requirements are applied.

NEW QUESTION # 138

Does the HITRUST CSF encompass all requirements from the authoritative sources mapped to an assessment object?

- A. No
- B. Yes

Answer: A

Explanation:

The HITRUST CSF integrates requirements from multiple authoritative sources (e.g., HIPAA, NIST 800-53, ISO 27001, PCI-DSS). However, the CSF does not replicate all requirements verbatim from each framework.

Instead, HITRUST rationalizes, harmonizes, and normalizes these sources into a single unified framework.

This means that overlapping requirements across standards are consolidated into common control references, reducing redundancy. Additionally, not every provision from an authoritative source is represented; instead, HITRUST includes requirements that are most relevant to information protection and compliance assurance.

For example, PCI-DSS operational practices like business rules may not appear exactly as written, but their security objectives are captured within CSF control statements. Therefore, the CSF is comprehensive and risk-based, but it does not literally encompass every requirement word-for-word.

NEW QUESTION # 139

What are HITRUST Assurance Advisories designed to provide? (Select all that apply) [0051]

- A. Solicitations for assessor input
- B. End-of-Life progression for older framework versions
- C. All of the above
- D. List of all new and updated authoritative sources associated with a framework version update
- E. Updates related to the HITRUST Assurance Program

Answer: A,B,C,D,E

Explanation:

HITRUST Assurance Advisories (HAAs) are official communications issued by HITRUST to:

Provide program updates.

Communicate framework updates (new/updated authoritative sources).

Define end-of-life progression for older framework versions.

Occasionally solicit assessor input or feedback.

Thus, they serve as a broad communication tool covering all listed items.

Extract Reference (HITRUST CSF Assurance Program Guidance [0051]):

Assurance Advisories communicate program updates, authoritative source changes, version end-of-life details, and solicit input from stakeholders.

NEW QUESTION # 140

The scoring of Requirement Statements is used to calculate the overall Domain score.

- A. False
- B. True

Answer: B

Explanation:

In HITRUST, scoring follows a hierarchical roll-up process. At the lowest level, Requirement Statements are scored across the five maturity levels: Policy, Procedure, Implemented, Measured, and Managed. These individual requirement scores are then aggregated to produce the Control Reference score. Control Reference scores are averaged to determine the Domain score, and finally, domain scores are used to determine whether certification thresholds are met. Each level of scoring influences the next, meaning deficiencies at the Requirement Statement level impact the higher-level domain performance. This structure ensures that assessments provide a balanced and transparent picture of organizational control effectiveness. No single requirement is hidden; its performance is reflected in the domain-level scoring. Since r2 certifications require each of the 19 domains to score at least 71, accuracy in Requirement Statement scoring is critical.

NEW QUESTION # 141

An organization can have multiple assessment objects. [0090]

- A. False
- B. True

Answer: B

Explanation:

In the HITRUST MyCSF environment, organizations may define multiple assessment objects. An assessment object refers to the specific environment, business unit, or system being evaluated under a HITRUST assessment. This allows organizations with diverse operations or multiple systems to scope and manage assessments separately, ensuring accurate applicability of requirement statements.

Extract Reference (CCSFP Study Guide & HITRUST CSF Guidance, [0090]):

Organizations may establish multiple assessment objects in MyCSF to represent different systems, applications, or environments subject to CSF assessment.

Thus, the correct response is True
