Salesforce Certified Data Architect Sample Questions (Q169-Q174):

NEW QUESTION # 169

Universal Containers (UC) is implementing Salesforce Sales Cloud and Service Cloud. As part of their implementation, they are planning to create a new custom object (Shipments), which will have a lookup relationship to Opportunities. When creating shipment records, Salesforce users need to manually input a customer reference, which is provided by customers, and will be stored in the Customer_Reference__c text custom field. Support agents will likely use this customer reference to search for Shipment records when resolving shipping issues. UC is expecting to have around 5 million shipment records created per year. What is the recommended solution to ensure that support agents using global search and reports can quickly find shipment records?

- A. Implement an archiving process for shipment records created after three years.
- B. Set Customer-Reference__c as an External ID (unique).
- C. Implement an archiving process for shipment records created after five years.
- D. Set Customer-Reference__c as an External ID (non-unique).

Answer: B

Explanation:

Setting Customer-Reference__c as an External ID (unique) is the recommended solution to ensure that support agents using global search and reports can quickly find shipment records. This is because external ID fields are indexed and can be used as filters in reports and list views. Making the field unique also ensures that there are no duplicate values that could confuse the search results.

NEW QUESTION # 170

Universal Containers (UC) is transitioning from Classic to Lightning Experience.

What does UC need to do to ensure users have access to its notices and attachments in Lightning Experience?

- A. Add Notes and Attachments Related List to page Layout in Lightning Experience.
- B. Manually upload Attachments in Lightning Experience.
- C. Manually upload Notes in Lightning Experience.
- D. Migrate Notes and Attachment to Enhanced Notes and Files a migration tool

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 171

UC has a requirement to migrate 100 million order records from a legacy ERP application into the salesforce platform. UC does not have any requirements around reporting on the migrated data.

What should a data architect recommend to reduce the performance degradation of the platform?

- A. Use a standard big object defined by salesforce.
- B. Implement a custom big object to store the data.
- C. Create a custom object to store the data.
- D. Use the standard "Order" object to store the data.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Implementing a custom big object to store the data is the best recommendation to reduce the performance degradation of the platform, as it allows storing large volumes of data that do not need real-time access or reporting. Custom big objects can be defined using metadata API or developer console, and support up to 1 billion records per object. Creating a custom object or using the standard order object would consume a lot of storage space and impact the performance of queries and reports. Using a standard big object defined by salesforce would not be applicable for order records, as standard big objects are predefined for specific use cases such as audit trails or field history.

NEW QUESTION # 172

Universal Containers (UC) has a Salesforce instance with over 10.000 Account records. They have noticed similar, but not identical, Account names and addresses. What should UC do to ensure proper data quality?

- A. Make the Account Owner clean their Accounts' addresses, then merge Accounts with the same address.
- B. Run a report, find Accounts whose name starts with the same five characters, then merge those Accounts.
- C. Enable Account de-duplication by creating matching rules in Salesforce, which will mass merge duplicate Accounts.

- D. Use a service to standardize Account addresses, then use a 3rd -party tool to merge Accounts based on rules.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Enabling Account de-duplication by creating matching rules in Salesforce, which will mass merge duplicate Accounts, is what UC should do to ensure proper data quality for their Account records. Matching rules allow UC to define how Salesforce identifies duplicate Accounts based on various criteria, such as name, address, phone number, etc. Mass merge allows UC to merge up to 200 duplicate Accounts at a time, based on the matching rules. This simplifies and automates the process of de-duplicating Accounts and improves data quality. The other options are either more time-consuming, costly, or error-prone for ensuring proper data quality.

NEW QUESTION # 173

DreamHouse Realty has a data model as shown in the image. The Project object has a private sharing model, and it has Roll-Up summary fields to calculate the number of resources assigned to the project, total hours for the project, and the number of work items associated to the project.

There will be a large amount of time entry records to be loaded regularly from an external system into Salesforce.

What should the Architect consider in this situation?

- A. Load all data after deferring sharing calculations.
- B. Calculate summary values instead of Roll-Up by using workflow.
- C. Calculate summary values instead of Roll-Up by using triggers.
- D. Load all data using external IDs to link to parent records.

Answer: A
