NEW QUESTION # 33
Note: This question is part of a series of questions that present the same scenario. Each question in the series contains a unique solution that might meet the stated goals. Some question setsmight have more than one correct solution, while others might not have a correct solution.
After you answer a question in this section, you will NOT be able to return to it as a result, these questions will not appear in the review screen.
You have an Amazon Web Services (AWS) account, a Google Workspace subscription, and a GitHub account.
You deploy an Azure subscription and enable Microsoft 365 Defender.
You need to ensure that you can monitor OAuth authentication requests by using Microsoft Defender for Cloud Apps.
Solution: From the Microsoft 365 Defender portal, you add the Google Workspace app connector.
Does this meet the goal?

- A. Yes
- B. No

Answer: A

Explanation:
In Microsoft Defender for Cloud Apps, app connectors integrate third-party services (such as Google Workspace, AWS, and GitHub) with Microsoft 365 Defender to enable activity monitoring, OAuth app analysis, and governance actions.
According to the Defender for Cloud Apps Integration Guide and the SC-300 Study Guide (Identity Governance and Compliance), connecting Google Workspace through the app connector allows the system to collect OAuth authentication data, login attempts, and permissions granted by third-party apps that use OAuth 2.0 within that ecosystem.
The documentation states:
"Defender for Cloud Apps integrates with connected apps such as Google Workspace, AWS, and others to detect suspicious OAuth applications and monitor app permission grants." Since the goal is to monitor OAuth authentication requests and Google Workspace is one of the connected sources, this solution meets the goal.
