Appian Senior Developer Sample Questions (Q88-Q93):

NEW QUESTION # 88

You're reviewing the process model built by your team member.

Which two design decisions might cause performance issues? (Choose two.)

- A. Data types passed by reference
- B. No target process for the Send Message event
- C. Too many nodes
- D. Asynchronous subprocess

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

Having no target process for the Send Message event can cause unnecessary processing and delays.

Too many nodes in a process model increase complexity and processing overhead, leading to potential performance issues.

NEW QUESTION # 89

What are three locations to call an Integration that changes the source data? (Choose three.)

- A. Web API (GET)
- B. Process model (Call Integration Smart Service)
- C. Rule
- D. Interface component saveInto parameter
- E. Web API (POST, PUT, DELETE)

Answer: B,C,E

Explanation:

Integrations can be called from rules, allowing for source data changes when used in the proper context.

The Call Integration Smart Service in a process model can execute integrations that modify source data.

Web APIs using POST, PUT, or DELETE methods are typically used to change source data via integrations.

NEW QUESTION # 90

You're conducting a design review.

You identify slow-performing expression rules querying a specific data store, and need to understand the "number of operations against data stores."

Which metric from the data_store_details.csv file is helpful to you?

- A. Execute Count
- B. TCCCTotal Count

- C. Query Count

Answer: C

Explanation:

The "Query Count" metric in the data_store_details.csv file indicates the number of operations (queries) performed against data stores, helping you analyze data store usage.

NEW QUESTION # 91

You're developing a user input form for a financial services application.

One component of this form requires you to embed an external site (in the form of a URL) that can receive inputs from Appian and return updates as the user interacts with it.

What should you do?

- A. Use a component plug-in to achieve interaction with the embedded site, because this use case requires input-output or event parameters.
- B. Use the Appian out-of-the-box Web Content Component. It can display content from a URL and provide both additional inputs, or receive updates as the user interacts with the embedded site.
- C. Use an integration to achieve interaction with the embedded site while displaying information in the Appian out-of-the-box Web Content Component. That way you can refresh for updates and interact with the site.

Answer: A

Explanation:

A component plug-in is required because the standard Web Content Component in Appian only displays external sites and does not support direct two-way interaction or input/output event handling. A plug-in enables custom integration to allow input and receive updates as users interact with the embedded site.

NEW QUESTION # 92

A process was recently pushed to the Prod environment. However, users are reporting that a task on this process is experiencing slow response times when they try to input data.

What is the most likely reason for this issue?

- A. The task is assigned to too many users.
- B. The process uses too many hidden variables.
- C. Exception timers on tasks are set to values that are too low.
- D. There are too many SAIL components on the task.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Having too many SAIL components on the task can cause slow response times for users, as the interface may take longer to render and process inputs, impacting performance.

NEW QUESTION # 93
