NEW QUESTION # 32

A machine learning (ML) engineer is working with a security engineer to identify the best practices for securing a system with various AI models.

Which of the following actions should the engineers suggest?

- A. Following a secure model development life cycle (MDLC)
- B. Implementing comprehensive security architecture
- C. Using a secure software development life cycle (SDLC)
- D. Conducting guardrail testing and security validation

Answer: A

Explanation:

A secure MDLC is tailored to AI and ML systems, ensuring security is integrated throughout the model's design, training, validation, deployment, and monitoring phases. This directly addresses best practices for securing systems with AI models.

- A. AI risk analyst
- B. Machine learning operations (MLOps) engineer
- C. Platform architect

A company uses human review for software development validation and wants to add another validation layer. Which of the following should a security administrator use to accomplish task?

- A. Low-code plug-in
- B. Automated rollback
- C. AI-assisted approval

AI-assisted approval adds an automated validation layer alongside human review, helping detect potential security or quality issues in software development before deployment. This strengthens the overall validation process.

NEW QUESTION # 35

A financial organization implements a new AI-based fraud detection system to flag suspicious transactions. A security analyst discovers that it occasionally blocks legitimate transactions.

Which of the following is the best recommendation?

- A. Retaining the model with more data and recent transaction patterns
- B. Rolling back the model and using a traditional fraud detection system
- C. Encrypting all the data processed by AI and applying further access controls
- D. Implementing AI token usage and rate limits
