- B. Downplaying the strength of the evidence
- C. Discussing the testimony of witnesses
- D. Discussing Gamma's prior deceptions

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 147

- A. Present an alternative question.
- B. Leave the room for a short time.
- C. Ask Manuel to sit up straight.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 148

Which of the following statements would be IMPROPER if included in the fraud examination report of a Certified Fraud Examiner (CFE) who is also qualified as an accounting expert?

- A. "Based on statements the suspect made to me, it is my assessment that the suspect has a dishonest disposition."
- B. "The evidence shows that expenses in excess of $5 million were omitted from the company's financial statements."
- C. "From my examination, it appears that the company's financial statements were not presented in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles."
- D. "The company's internal controls were wholly inadequate to prevent this type of violation and should be remediated at the earliest possible time."

Answer: A

Explanation:

Fraud examiners must not opine on guilt, innocence, intent, or disposition. Reports should focus on facts and expert conclusions within their field. The Manual stresses:

"The fraud examiner should refrain from expressing opinions as to the guilt or innocence of any person or entity. Such conclusions are reserved for the trier of fact" (Fraud Examiners Manual, Reporting section).

Options A, B, and D relate to accounting and internal control assessments, which fall within an accounting expert's scope. Only C is improper because it speculates about the suspect's character or intent, which is outside the CFE's role.

- B. Ashley should promise Antonio unqualified confidentiality over all information provided

Answer: D

- B. "How long have you been in this department?"
- C. "Have you committed any misconduct against the company?"
- D. "Do you know who had access to the file?"

Answer: B

Explanation:

The manual explains:

"After the interviewer establishes rapport through normal conversation, he must observe the respondent's reactions. This will serve as a baseline for observing behaviour when questions that are more sensitive are asked." A neutral, non-threatening question such as "How long have you been in this department?" is ideal for establishing a baseline.
