NEW QUESTION # 968
Which of the following descriptions about NSAP addresses in IS-IS are correct? (Multiple choice)

- A. NSAP is the address used to locate resources in the OSI protocol stack, mainly used to provide the interface between the network layer and upper-layer applications
- B. The NSAP address consists of two parts: IDP and DSP
- C. In the NSAP address structure, the role of SEL is similar to the "protocol identifier" in IP, and SEL is 01 on IP
- D. By default, a maximum of 3 area addresses can be configured in an IS-IS process

Answer: A,B,D

NEW QUESTION # 969
Security policy is the core feature of firewalls. Only valid traffic that complies with security policies can be forwarded by firewalls. Which of the following statements are true about security policy matching rules?

- A. Multiple values can be configured for a single matching condition, and the values are logically ANDed.
- B. The system has a default security policy named default, where all matching conditions are any and the default action is permit.
- C. If a security policy contains multiple matching conditions, the relationship between them is AND.
- D. When multiple security policy rules are configured, they are sorted in a list by configuration sequence by default. A security policy rule configured earlier is placed higher in the list and has a higher priority.

Answer: C,D

Explanation:
Comprehensive and Detailed Step-by-Step Explanation:
1. How Firewalls Match Security Policies:
* Firewalls use security policies to define rules for filtering traffic.
* Each policy contains matching conditions (e.g., source IP, destination IP, protocol, etc.) and an action (e.g., permit or deny).
* Traffic is evaluated against these policies in sequential order, and the first matching policy is applied.
2. Analysis of Each Statement:
Option A: Multiple values can be configured for a single matching condition, and the values are logically ANDed.
* Incorrect.

* Multiple values for a single matching condition (e.g., multiple source IPs) are logically ORed, not ANDed. For example, traffic from any of the specified source IPs matches the policy.
Option B: If a security policy contains multiple matching conditions, the relationship between them is AND.
* Correct.
* When a policy has multiple matching conditions (e.g., source IP AND destination IP AND protocol), all conditions must be met for the policy to match.
Option C: The system has a default security policy named default, where all matching conditions are any and the default action is permit.
* Incorrect.
* The default security policy typically denies all traffic unless explicitly permitted by user-defined policies.
Option D: When multiple security policy rules are configured, they are sorted in a list by configuration sequence by default. A security policy rule configured earlier is placed higher in the list and has a higher priority.
* Correct.
* Security policies are processed in sequential order based on their configuration sequence. Policies configured earlier have higher priority and are evaluated first.
3. Summary:
* The correct statements are B and D.

NEW QUESTION # 970
A local router runs IS-IS and its command output is shown in the following figure. Which of the following statements is true?

- A. S4/0/0 sends IIH packets at the interval of 30s.
- B. The circuit level of S4/0/0 is Level-1.
- C. The cost of S4/0/0 is 20.
- D. S4/0/0 supports IPv6.

Answer: C

Explanation:
From the command output, the interface S4/0/0 has its cost value explicitly listed under the Cost section as 20 for Level-1 circuits. This means that all traffic routed through this interface will incur this cost in the IS-IS metric calculation. The other options (such as circuit level and IPv6 support) are either not correct or not supported by the provided output .

NEW QUESTION # 971
Which of the following is the multicast destination address of the Hello message in PIM?

- A. 224.0.0.9
- B. 224.0.0.5
- C. 224.0.0.13
- D. 224.0.0.21

Answer: C
