UiPath Automation Business Analyst Associate Exam (2023.10) Sample Questions (Q31-Q36):

NEW QUESTION # 31

Which document captures the initial agreement on scope, timelines, and responsibilities between client and implementation teams?

- A. Process Definition Document (PDD)
- B. Project Plan
- C. UAT Plan
- D. Statement of Work (SOW)

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Statement of Work (SOW) captures the initial agreement between the Client Team and the Implementation Team. It defines the high-level scope, project timelines, responsibilities, deliverables, and engagement terms for the automation project.

The SOW is usually prepared before or during the Kickoff stage and serves as the formal agreement that sets expectations for all stakeholders. It provides clarity on:

* What is to be delivered

* By when

* By whom

* Under what conditions

Having a well-defined SOW is essential to avoid scope creep, timeline mismanagement, or resource conflicts.

It also helps align both parties and acts as a reference point throughout the project's lifecycle.

NEW QUESTION # 32

Which stage in the automation implementation strategy involves selecting critical quick wins and important low-hanging fruits for initial focus?

- A. Third implementation wave
- B. Pilot phase
- C. Final wave
- D. Second implementation wave

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Pilot phase is the stage in the automation implementation strategy where organizations focus on quick wins and low-hanging fruits—those automation opportunities that are easy to implement, carry minimal risk, and can deliver immediate, visible value. These processes typically have low complexity but high impact, such as frequent, repetitive, rules-based tasks.

The purpose of the Pilot phase is to build early momentum, validate the chosen automation tools and methodology, and create internal success stories. These successes help establish credibility for the automation program, gain stakeholder trust, and generate enthusiasm for further automation expansion.

By starting with manageable and well-scoped automations, teams can also fine-tune their implementation practices, identify potential pitfalls, and standardize governance and documentation practices for future waves. These learnings serve as a foundation for scaling automation in subsequent phases such as the second and third waves, which typically involve more complex or cross-functional processes.

Skipping or mismanaging the Pilot phase can lead to early failures, resistance, and slow adoption. Therefore, it is essential to choose this phase's automation candidates carefully based on business value and ease of implementation.

NEW QUESTION # 33

Which of the following documents defines success criteria and UAT test scenarios?

- A. Process Definition Document
- B. Solution Design Document
- C. Application Tracker
- D. UAT Plan

Answer: A

Explanation:

Once the Process Definition Document (PDD) is completed and approved, it becomes the basis for the Client Team to define the success criteria and User Acceptance Testing (UAT) test scenarios.

The PDD captures the As-Is process and outlines what the automation is expected to perform. Using this understanding, the Client Team can establish what constitutes successful automation - for example, specific data processing accuracy, response times, or compliance with business rules.

They also define UAT test cases that validate whether the automation behaves as expected under various conditions. By linking success metrics directly to the process details in the PDD, stakeholders can objectively assess the automation's performance before deployment.

NEW QUESTION # 34

Who is responsible for managing internal processes and escalations during automation implementation?

- A. Infrastructure Engineer
- B. Client Team Project Manager
- C. Solution Architect
- D. Automation Developer

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Client Team Project Manager is responsible for managing internal processes and handling any escalations that may arise during the automation implementation lifecycle. This individual acts as the liaison between the business and the technical Implementation Team, ensuring alignment, timely responses, and that the business requirements are met.

Their key responsibilities include stakeholder communication, ensuring availability of business SMEs (Subject Matter Experts), resolving conflicts, managing dependencies on internal systems or departments, and escalating issues internally when roadblocks occur. This ensures the smooth execution of the project from the business side.

Effective management from the Client Team Project Manager is critical for success, as delays or miscommunications from the business side can stall the implementation timeline or lead to incomplete automation requirements. Their collaboration with the Implementation Team's project manager also ensures project tracking, scope control, and successful delivery within budget and time.

NEW QUESTION # 35

What is the primary focus of the "Business Case and Technical Validation" stage?

- A. Analyzing the As-Is process
- B. Evaluating business value, complexity, and feasibility of automation
- C. Creating documentation for project closure
- D. Building the automation and testing it

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Business Case and Technical Validation stage focuses on evaluating the business value, complexity, and feasibility of the proposed automation candidates. It is an essential checkpoint before any development begins, ensuring that the chosen processes are both valuable and technically viable.

In this stage, the Automation Business Analyst assesses the potential ROI, cost-benefit analysis, and strategic alignment with business goals. Meanwhile, the Solution Architect evaluates the technical feasibility, identifying access needs, integration points, and potential risks.

By assessing these factors upfront, this stage helps prioritize processes that offer the highest value and are achievable within the project's constraints. It also ensures stakeholder alignment on why a process is being automated and how it will deliver measurable benefits.
