Salesforce Certified Agentforce Specialist Sample Questions (Q57-Q62):

NEW QUESTION # 57

After an agent selects a topic, what is an important factor the reasoning engine uses to select the action?

- A. The explicit order of actions in the topic
- B. The name and instructions of the actions
- C. The priority given to each action

Answer: C

Explanation:

The most crucial factor a reasoning engine uses to select an action after a topic is chosen is the priority given to each action (A). In advanced agent frameworks like AgentForce (simulated context), actions within a topic are typically not executed simply in an explicit, fixed order () unless there's no conditional logic. Instead, the reasoning engine evaluates all available actions and their associated pre-conditions (or triggers) and priorities. A priority score is often a numerical value assigned to an action that dictates its relative importance when multiple actions could potentially be executed simultaneously or when the agent must choose the 'best' action to address the current topic state. This prioritization ensures the agent handles the most critical or relevant tasks first, which is essential for efficient and goal-oriented behavior. The action's name and instructions () are descriptive for the developer but are not the primary selection criteria used by the runtime reasoning engine itself; it's the logic and priority that govern execution.

NEW QUESTION # 59

Universal Containers (UC) wants to enable its sales team to use AI to suggest recommended products from its catalog. Which type of prompt template should UC use?

- A. Record summary prompt template
- B. Flex prompt template
- C. Email generation prompt template

Answer: B

Explanation:

Universal Containers (UC) wants to enable its sales team to leverage AI to recommend products from its catalog. The best option for this use case is a Flex prompt template.

inputs and parameters, making it ideal for generating product recommendations dynamically.

NEW QUESTION # 60

In Model Playground, which hyperparameters of an existing Salesforce-enabled foundational model can An Agentforce change?

- A. Temperature, Frequency Penalty, Output Tokens
- B. Temperature, Frequency Penalty, Presence Penalty
- C. Temperature, Top-k sampling, Presence Penalty

Answer: B

Explanation:

In Model Playground, An Agentforce working with a Salesforce-enabled foundational model has control over specific hyperparameters that can directly affect the behavior of the generative model:

Temperature: Controls the randomness of predictions. A higher temperature leads to more diverse outputs, while a lower temperature makes the model's responses more focused and deterministic.

Frequency Penalty: Reduces the likelihood of the model repeating the same phrases or outputs frequently.

Presence Penalty: Encourages the model to introduce new topics in its responses, rather than sticking with familiar, previously mentioned content.

These hyperparameters are adjustable to fine-tune the model's responses, ensuring that it meets the desired behavior and use case requirements. Salesforce documentation confirms that these three are the key tunable hyperparameters in the Model Playground. For more details, refer to Salesforce AI Model Playground guidance from Salesforce's official documentation on foundational model adjustments.

NEW QUESTION # 61

Universal Containers is very concerned about security compliance and wants to understand:

- Which prompt text is sent to the large language model (LLM)
- How it is masked
- The masked response

What should the Agentforce Specialist recommend?

- A. Ingest the Einstein Shield Event logs into CRM Analytics.
- B. Review the debug logs of the running user.
- C. Enable audit trail in the Einstein Trust Layer.

Answer: C

Explanation:

To address security compliance concerns and provide visibility into the prompt text sent to the LLM, how it is masked, and the masked response, the Agentforce Specialist should recommend enabling the audit trail in the Einstein Trust Layer. This feature captures and logs the prompts sent to the large language model (LLM) along with the masking of sensitive information and the AI's response.
