Relativity Certified Administrator Sample Questions (Q53-Q58):

NEW QUESTION # 53

What happens during the staging step of a production?

- A. Relativity performs a conflict check to ensure the data sources do not contain documents that are also in the saved search selected in the Production Restriction field.
- B. Relativity displays a sample image showing how the branding is applied to documents in the production.
- C. Relativity takes a snapshot of the data sources and checks for duplicate documents between data sources.
- D. Relativity assigns Bates numbers to documents.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The correct answer is B . Relativity's official production console documentation explains that Stage Production and Stage and Run Production both take a snapshot of the data sources for the production.

The staging step captures the current contents of those data sources so the production job runs against a fixed set of documents. Relativity also documents that staging errors occur if the same document is found in multiple data sources , which means duplicate-document checking is part of what administrators must evaluate during the staging phase.

The other options describe different production activities. Showing a sample image of branding is associated with Preview Production , not staging. Bates numbers are assigned later as part of the production run, not during the initial staging snapshot. The option about conflict checking against a Production Restriction saved search is not the best description of the staging step itself according to the official documentation. For RCA exam purposes, the key concept is that staging freezes the production inputs and surfaces structural issues, especially duplicate documents across data sources, before the full production run proceeds. This is an important quality-control checkpoint because it helps administrators verify that the right documents and data- source configuration are in place before branding, numbering, and export occur. Therefore, the best answer is that during staging, Relativity takes a snapshot of the data sources and checks for duplicate documents between data sources .

NEW QUESTION # 54

With what tool can you rapidly transfer large amounts of data from your RelativityOne storage location to a local computer?

- A. Relativity Integration Points RIP
- B. Simple File Download
- C. RelativityOne Staging Explorer ROSE
- D. File Transfer Protocol

Answer: C

Explanation:

The correct answer is D. RelativityOne Staging Explorer ROSE . Relativity's official documentation states that Staging Explorer enables you to rapidly transfer large amounts of data to and from RelativityOne .

It is specifically intended for high-volume transfer workflows and can be used to download files from your RelativityOne storage location to a local computer . That wording directly matches the question, making ROSE the exact documented tool for this scenario.

This is why the other options are incorrect. Simple File Download is not the primary enterprise-scale utility Relativity documents for rapid bulk transfer from RelativityOne storage. File Transfer Protocol is a generic technology term, not the RelativityOne tool identified by Relativity documentation for this workflow.

Relativity Integration Points RIP is used for moving and integrating data across systems and workspaces, but it is not the official RelativityOne utility described as the mechanism to rapidly move large data volumes between RelativityOne storage and a local machine. Relativity also reinforces ROSE's suitability for large datasets in its best practices and certification materials, which describe it as the tool for high-volume uploads and downloads in RelativityOne environments. From an RCA perspective, this is an important operational distinction because ROSE is purpose-built for staging and large-scale data movement, making it the correct answer.

NEW QUESTION # 55

A client sends you a data set they want processed that is comprised entirely of large Excel files. What is the best Excel Text Extraction Method to get the data to review as quickly as possible?

- A. Extract and place inline
- B. Native

- C. Relativity
- D. Native failover to dtSearch

Answer: C

Explanation:

The correct answer is A. Relativity. Relativity's Processing throughput guidance states that internal performance testing has shown the Relativity text extraction method to be at least two times faster than the native method on Excel, Word, and PowerPoint file types, and also less error-prone than native extraction.

Since the question asks for the best method to get a large Excel-only data set to review as quickly as possible, the documented speed advantage makes Relativity the best answer.

The native-based methods are slower according to that same documentation, even though they may have other use cases. The processing profile documentation also shows that native/failover combinations are available configurations, but the performance guidance specifically favors the Relativity extraction method for speed on Excel files. "Extract and place inline" is not the documented Excel text extraction method choice for this question. Therefore, the fastest and most review-efficient choice for large Excel files is Relativity.

NEW QUESTION # 56

What operator is invalid in a text box filter?

- A. > =
- B. NOT
- C. AND
- D. IS SET

Answer: B

Explanation:

The correct answer is D. NOT . Relativity's Filters documentation for text box filters lists the valid operators as AND, OR, IS SET, IS NOT SET, BETWEEN, =, > =, and < = . Since NOT does not appear in that valid operator list, it is the invalid choice among the options provided.

This is a useful distinction because Relativity supports NOT in some other search contexts, such as dtSearch or advanced filtering patterns, but the question asks specifically about a text box filter operator. In that exact context, AND , IS SET , and > = are valid, while NOT is not. Therefore, the invalid operator for a text box filter is NOT .

NEW QUESTION # 57

Using Simple File Upload, what metadata fields are overwritten if you replace a document with a document that has a different name?

- A. Extracted text, FileSize, and Page Count
- B. FileExtension, FileName, and Sort Date
- C. Extracted text, Group Identifier, and FileSize
- D. Extracted text, FileExtension, and FileName

Answer: D

Explanation:

The correct answer is C. Extracted text, FileExtension, and FileName. Relativity's official Simple File Upload documentation includes a Replacing documents section that explicitly lists the metadata fields overwritten when a document is replaced with another document sharing the same control number. The overwritten fields include FileName , FileSize , FileExtension , Extracted Text , Supported By Viewer , Relativity Native Type , Has Native , and certain last-modified system fields.

Among the answer choices, option C is the only one composed entirely of fields that Relativity explicitly says are overwritten in this workflow. Option A is incorrect because Sort Date is not one of the documented overwritten fields. Option B is incorrect because Group Identifier is not listed as being overwritten. Option D is incorrect because Page Count is not listed in the documented overwritten fields for replacing a document via this workflow.

This is an important Data loading administration detail because document replacement changes core file metadata tied to the uploaded replacement native, including its filename and extension, while preserving the document identity through the shared control number. Therefore, the correct option is C. Extracted text, FileExtension, and FileName .
