When the test class runs, the assertion fails.

- A. Query the Administrator user into memory and enclose lines 15 and 16 within the system,runAs (use); method.
- B. Add System, runAs (Use; to line 14 and enclose line 15 within Test, startTest); and Test ().
- C. Query the Standard User into memory and enclose lines 15 and 16 within the system ,runAs; method.
- D. Add @Istest% seeAllDataTrue; to line 12 and enclose lines 15 and 16 within Test .set(Test); and test ste-ptest());.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 215

Universal Containers (UC) uses a custom object called Vendor. The Vendor custom object has a master-detail relationship with the standard Account object.

Based on some internal discussions, the UC administrator tried to change the master-detail relationship to a lookup relationship, but was not able to do so.

What is a possible reason that this change was not permitted?

- A. Some of the Vendor records have null for the Account field.
- B. The Account object has a roll up summary field on the Vendor object.
- C. The organization wide default for the Vendor object is Public Read/Write.
- D. The Account object does not allow changing a field type for a custom field.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 216

A developer creates a new Apex trigger with a helper class, and writes a test class that only exercises 95% coverage of the new Apex helper class.

Change Set deployment to production fails with the test coverage warning:

"Test coverage of selected Apex Trigger is 0%, at least 1% test coverage is required." What should the developer do to successfully deploy the new Apex trigger and helper class?

- A. Create a test class and methods to cover the Apex trigger.
- B. Increase the test class coverage on the helper class.
- C. Remove the failing test methods from the test class

- D. Run the tests using the Run All Tests' method.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The deployment fails because the Apex trigger has 0% test coverage. Even though the helper class is covered, Salesforce requires at least 1% test coverage for the trigger itself. To resolve this, a test class and methods must specifically invoke the trigger by performing DML operations on the related object.

NEW QUESTION # 217

A Salesforce Administrator used Flow Builder to create a flow named "accountOnboarding". The flow must be used inside an Aura component.

Which tag should a developer use to display the flow in the component?

- A. Aura:flow
- B. Lightning-flow
- C. Aura:flow
- D. Lightning:flow

Answer: D

Explanation:

The developer should use the Lightning:flow tag to display the flow in the Aura component. The Lightning:flow tag is a base Lightning component that allows you to embed a flow in an Aura component and interact with it programmatically. The Lightning:flow tag has attributes that let you specify the name of the flow, pass input values to the flow, handle the flow status change event, and control the flow navigation. The Lightning:flow tag supports only screen flows and autolaunched flows.

The other options are not valid tags for displaying a flow in an Aura component. There is no such tag as Lightning-flow or Aura:flow. The aura:component tag is the root tag of the Aura component hierarchy, but it does not display a flow by itself.
