Microsoft Cybersecurity Architect Sample Questions (Q140-Q145):

NEW QUESTION # 140

Your company is moving a big data solution to Azure.

The company plans to use the following storage workloads:

- * Azure Storage blob containers
- * Azure Data Lake Storage Gen2
- * Azure Storage file shares
- * Azure Disk Storage

Which two storage workloads support authentication by using Azure Active Directory (Azure AD)?

Each correct answer presents a complete solution. NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

- A. Azure Storage file shares
- B. Azure Data Lake Storage Gen2
- C. Azure Storage blob containers
- D. Azure Disk Storage

NEW QUESTION # 141

You have a Microsoft 365 subscription that contains 1,000 Microsoft Exchange Online mailboxes.

Incoming email from the internet is scanned for security threats by using a third-party cloud service.

You are evaluating whether to replace the third-party service with Microsoft Defender for Office 365.

What should you modify to ensure that all the incoming email is scanned by Defender for Office 365 only?

- A. the Exchange Online transport rule
- B. the accepted domains in Exchange Online
- C. the Exchange Online connectors
- D. the DNS records

Answer: C

Explanation:

Configure mail flow using connectors in Exchange Online

Connectors are a collection of instructions that customize the way your email flows to and from your Microsoft 365 or Office 365 organization.

What do connectors do?

Connectors are used in the following scenarios:

Enable mail flow between Microsoft 365 or Office 365 and email servers that you have in your on-premises environment (also known as on-premises email servers).

*-> Apply security restrictions or controls to email that's sent between your Microsoft 365 or Office 365 organization and a business partner or service provider.

Relay mail from devices, applications, or other non-mailbox entities in your on-premises environment through Microsoft 365 or Office 365.

Avoid graylisting that would otherwise occur due to the large volume of mail that's regularly sent between your Microsoft 365 or Office 365 organization and your on-premises environment or partners.

NEW QUESTION # 143

Your company has an Azure App Service plan that is used to deploy containerized web apps. You are designing a secure DevOps strategy for deploying the web apps to the App Service plan. You need to recommend a strategy to integrate code scanning tools into a secure software development lifecycle. The code must be scanned during the following two phases:

Uploading the code to repositories Building containers

Where should you integrate code scanning for each phase? To answer, select the appropriate options in the answer area.

NEW QUESTION # 144

Your company has an on-premise network in Seattle and an Azure subscription. The on-premises network contains a Remote Desktop server.

The company contracts a third-party development firm from France to develop and deploy resources to the virtual machines hosted in the Azure subscription.

Currently, the firm establishes an RDP connection to the Remote Desktop server. From the Remote Desktop connection, the firm can access the virtual machines hosted in Azure by using custom administrative tools installed on the Remote Desktop server. All the traffic to the Remote Desktop server is captured by a firewall, and the firewall only allows specific connections from France to the server.

You need to recommend a modern security solution based on the Zero Trust model. The solution must minimize latency for developers.

Which three actions should you recommend? Each correct answer presents part of the solution.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

- A. Migrate from the Remote Desktop server to Azure Virtual Desktop.
- B. Deploy a Remote Desktop server to an Azure region located in France.
- C. Configure Azure Active Directory (Azure AD) Conditional Access with multi-factor authentication (MFA) and named locations.

- D. Implement Azure Firewall to restrict host pool outbound access.
- E. Configure network security groups (NSGs) to allow access from only specific logical groupings of IP address ranges.

Answer: A,C,D
