- D. Implementing AES-256 encryption for data at rest in both on-premises servers and cloud storage.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The question is explicitly about data at rest in both locations; full-disk or storage-level encryption with AES-256 is the standard measure to protect data at rest in hybrid environments.

NEW QUESTION # 25

- B. PEAP
- C. EAP-MSCHAPv2

- * Use a private WAN strategy that allows the sites to connect to each other directly and caters for future expansion.
- * Use the Internet as the underlay for the private WAN.
- * Securely transfer the corporate data over the private WAN.

An engineer is designing a DMVPN network where OSPF has been chosen as the routing protocol. A spoke- to-spoke data propagation model must be set up. Which two design considerations must be taken into account? (Choose two)

- A. The network type should be point-to-multipoint for the hub and point-to-point for the spokes.
- B. The hub should be the DR by changing the priority of the spokes to 0.
- C. Configure all the sites as network type broadcast.
- D. The hub should be set as the DR by specifying the priority to 255.
- E. The network type on all sites should be point-to-multipoint.

Answer: B,E

Explanation:

* B (Point-to-multipoint network type): OSPF point-to-multipoint allows the hub to see the DMVPN topology correctly without complex neighbor relationships.

* E (Set spokes priority to 0): Ensures the hub always becomes DR, maintaining predictable OSPF adjacency behavior.

Other options explained:

* A: Broadcast mode is inefficient and unnecessary in DMVPN designs.

* C: Mixed network types complicate adjacency maintenance.

* D: Manually setting the hub priority is redundant when spokes are at priority 0.
