A mid-size US healthcare network has decided to develop an AI solution to detect a type of cancer that is most likely to arise in adults. Specifically, the healthcare network intends to create a recognition algorithm that will perform an initial review of all imaging and then route records to a radiologist for secondary review pursuant to agreed-upon criteria (e.g., a confidence score below a threshold).

To date, the healthcare network has:

- Defined its AI ethical principles.
- Conducted discovery to identify the intended uses and success criteria for the system.
- Established an AI risk committee.
- Assembled a cross-functional team with clear roles and responsibilities.
- Created policies and procedures to document standards, workflows, timelines and risk thresholds during the project.

The healthcare network intends to retain a cloud provider to host the solution. It also intends to retain a large consulting firm to supplement its small data science team and help develop the algorithm using the healthcare network's existing data and de-identified data that is licensed from a large US clinical research partner.

Which stakeholder group is most important in selecting the specific type of algorithm?
