ISC Certified Information Systems Security Professional (CISSP) Sample Questions (Q1202-Q1207):

NEW QUESTION # 1202

Which one of the following security areas is directly addressed by Kerberos?

- A. Availability
- B. Physical attacks
- C. Confidentiality
- D. Frequency analysis

Answer: C

Explanation:

Kerberos directly addresses the confidentiality and also the integrity of information.

* attacks such as frequency analysis are not considered in the basic Kerberos implementation. In addition, the Kerberos protocol does not directly address availability issues. (Answer Availability.) For answer "Physical attack", since the Kerberos TGS and the authentication servers hold all the secret keys, these servers are vulnerable to both physical attacks and attacks from malicious code. In the Kerberos exchange, the client workstation temporarily holds the client's secret key, and this key is vulnerable to compromise at the workstation.

NEW QUESTION # 1203

A security professional needs to find a secure and efficient method of encrypting data on an endpoint. Which solution includes a root key?

- A. Virtual storage array network (VSAN)
- B. Hardware security module (HSM)
- C. Bitlocker
- D. Trusted Platform Module (TPM)

Answer: C

Explanation:

Bitlocker is a secure and efficient method of encrypting data on an endpoint that includes a root key. Bitlocker is a full disk encryption feature that is integrated with the Windows operating system. Bitlocker can protect the data on the endpoint from unauthorized access, theft, or loss, by encrypting the entire volume, including the operating system, applications, and files. Bitlocker uses a root key, also known as a Bitlocker recovery key, to encrypt and decrypt the volume master key, which in turn encrypts and decrypts the full volume encryption key, which is used to encrypt and decrypt the data on the volume. The root key can be stored in a Trusted Platform Module (TPM), a USB flash drive, a smart card, or a file, and can be used to recover the data in case of a hardware failure, a forgotten password, or a lost PIN. The other options are not methods of encrypting data on an endpoint that include a root key, as they either do not encrypt the data, do not operate on the endpoint, or do not use a root key. ### NEW QUESTION # 1204

Which of the following is NOT an administrative control?

- A. Development of policies, standards, procedures and guidelines
- B. Logical access control mechanisms
- C. Screening of personnel
- D. Change control procedures

Answer: B

Explanation:

It is considered to be a technical control.

Logical is synonymous with Technical Control. That was the easy answer.

There are three broad categories of access control: Administrative, Technical, and Physical.

Each category has different access control mechanisms that can be carried out manually or automatically. All of these access control mechanisms should work in concert with each other to protect an infrastructure and its data.

Each category of access control has several components that fall within it, as shown here:

Administrative Controls

Policy and procedures

Personnel controls

Supervisory structure

Security-awareness training

Testing

Physical Controls

Network segregation

Perimeter security

Computer controls

Work area separation

Data backups

Technical Controls

System access

Network architecture

Network access

Encryption and protocols

Control zone

Auditing

The following answers are incorrect : Screening of personnel is considered to be an administrative control Development of policies, standards, procedures and guidelines is considered to be an administrative control Change control procedures is considered to be an administrative control.
