- B. Create a central repository for information, and provide access to Team B
- C. Use an information board that will be visible to all passing through the workspace
- D. Email all stakeholders with status updates

Answer: C

Explanation:

In agile, information radiators—such as visual boards placed in common areas—are used to make project data accessible, transparent, and real-time. According to the PMI Agile Practice Guide (Section 7.1 Communication), visibility improves coordination across interdependent teams.

Mike Griffiths in the PMI-ACP Exam Prep Book (Chapter 4: Stakeholder Engagement) recommends that agile teams use visible, shared artifacts such as task boards, burn charts, or Kanban walls to improve cross-team communication and reduce friction.

- * Option B is correct: a physical or virtual board offers transparency and encourages informal communication.

- * Option C is one-way and doesn't support real-time updates.
- * Option D is reactive and could cause delays or misalignment.
