NEW QUESTION # 100

An architect is designing a VMware Aria Operations for Logs cluster for an organization. The organization has the following requirements:

No requirement for archival data
Support a log data retention period of 14 days

How will the log data be handled in this VMware Aria Operations for Logs cluster after the 14-day retention period?

- A. A variable sized chunk of old log messages is deleted to free up space based on the data age basis.
- B. Old log messages are automatically and periodically retired on least accessed basis.
- C. The user needs to manually select and delete specific old log messages to free up space.
- D. Old log messages are automatically and periodically retired on a first-come-first-retired basis.

Answer: D

Explanation:

VMware Aria Operations for Logs automatically deletes log data older than the defined retention period (in this case, 14 days) using a first-come-first-retired method, ensuring compliance with the retention policy without manual intervention.

- A. Planning secure user authentication and access management processes
- B. Selecting employee training topics
- C. Choosing office artwork
- D. Defining company mission statements

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 102

An architect is designing the authentication and identity management component of a private cloud solution and has gathered the following information from the customer.

Single forest multi-domain Active Directory deployment.

Solution must be highly available.

Which approach can the architect take to achieve this?

- A. Design Workspace One Access as a clustered deployment and configure the service as an LDAP directory type.
- B. Design Workspace One Access as a single node deployment and configure the service as a Single Active Directory Integrated Windows Authentication directory type.
- C. Design Workspace One Access as a clustered deployment and configure the service as a Single Active Directory Integrated Windows Authentication directory type.
- D. Design Workspace One Access as a single node deployment and configure the service as an Active Directory over LDAP directory type.

Answer: C

Explanation:

A clustered deployment of Workspace One Access ensures high availability. Configuring it as a Single Active Directory Integrated Windows Authentication (IWA) directory type allows seamless authentication across a single forest with multiple domains, supporting both high availability and the customer's AD topology requirements.

NEW QUESTION # 103

An architect is completing the physical design for a VMware Aria Operations solution. The customer has only provided the following information for their existing environment:

500 Virtual Machines
Two VMware vCenter Servers
10 VMware vSphere Hosts
20 Datastores

Live data should be stored within the VMware Aria Operations solution for six months. The RTO for all existing management components is four hours. The RPO for all existing management components is one hour. Which assumption could the architect make when designing the solution?

- A. The solution will deploy Extra Large VMware Aria Operations nodes
- B. The Availability Service Level Agreement of the service will be 99.5% measured monthly
- C. The RTO and RPO of the solution will be the same as the existing management components
- D. The resource profile of a virtual machine will be, on average, 1 vCPU and 2 GB RAM

Answer: C

Explanation:

Given that only the RTO and RPO for existing management components are specified, it is reasonable for the architect to assume the VMware Aria Operations solution must align with these business continuity targets.
