- Primary data is the collection of original or raw data which are generated from field research. In this case, only RFI and surveys from customers are considered as primary data.

- On the other hand, secondary data is public information that has been collected by others. NEW QUESTION # 117

- A. Every purchase represents an 'iceberg of costs of which the price is the 'tip'
- B. The supplier's quoted price represents the true end final cost of purchase
- C. All quoted prices are exaggerated and therefore discounts must be demanded to save costs
- D. The supplier's quoted price includes direct costs only and therefore other costs should be estimated

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 118

Which of the following are the causes of material cost variance?

1. The buyer updates purchase-to-pay system to track payment and delivery
2. An unprocessed goods received note is missing
3. The employees must work overtime to catch up with the customers' orders
4. The purchase is made in emergency

- A. 2 and 3 only
- B. 2 and 4 only
- C. 1 and 4 only
- D. 1 and 3 only

Answer: B

Explanation:

The difference between the standard cost of direct materials specified for production and the actual cost of direct materials used in production is known as Direct Material Cost Variance. Material Cost Variance gives an idea of how much more or less cost has been incurred when compared with the standard cost. Thus, Variance Analysis is an important tool to keep a tab on the deviations from the standard set by a company.

Material Cost Variance can be due to less purchase price being paid than the standard or because of change in the quantity of material used. Thus, Material Cost Variance is made up of two components namely; Material Price Variance and Material Usage Variance.

Among the 4 options:

- 'The buyer updates purchase-to-pay system to track payment and delivery': The use of e-procurement system can increase the productivity and create labour cost variance, not material cost variance.
- 'An unprocessed goods received note is missing': If a goods received note is missing, the buyer won't pay for that batch, which create quantity variance.
- 'The employees must work overtime to catch up with the customers' orders': Overtime salary can cause labour variance, not material cost variance.
- 'The purchase is made in emergency': Normally, the price in emergency situation is higher than usual. This can cause price variance.

NEW QUESTION # 119

The buyer's database is regarded as a primary data source. Which of the following is also a source of primary data?

- A. Financial and trade press, including journals published by professional bodies
- B. Published economic indices such as the retail price index (RPI)
- C. Price listings on comparison websites and market exchanges
- D. Price lists collected from suppliers' representatives at trade fairs

Answer: D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation (from CIPS L4M2: Market Management) Primary data = data collected first-hand by the buyer for a specific purpose.

Secondary data = data collected by others and reused (e.g. reports, indices).

* A. Price lists collected directly from suppliers at trade fairs represent first-hand market data.

* B, C, D are all secondary - they originate from external publications and existing datasets.

Hence, A is correct.
