NEW QUESTION # 62

Which auxiliary service supplements all of the services in the Business Analysis Service Framework (BASF)?

- A. Strategic analysis.
- B. Stakeholder engagement.
- C. External environment analysis.
- D. Project management.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Business Analysis Service Framework (BASF) identifies core and auxiliary services that support business analysis activities. Auxiliary services supplement the core services and are essential for delivering value.

Key Considerations:

Strategic Analysis: Focuses on high-level organizational goals and strategies but is not an auxiliary service.

Stakeholder Engagement: Involves identifying, analyzing, and collaborating with stakeholders, which supports all aspects of business analysis.

Project Management: While important, project management is a separate discipline and not part of the BASF.

External Environment Analysis: Examines external factors (e.g., market trends) but is not an auxiliary service.

Evaluation of Each Option:

A . Strategic analysis:

Strategic analysis is a core service, not an auxiliary service.

Conclusion: This is not correct .

B . Stakeholder engagement:

Stakeholder engagement is an auxiliary service that supports all business analysis activities by ensuring stakeholder needs are understood and addressed.

Conclusion: This is correct .

C . Project management:

Project management is outside the scope of the BASF.

Conclusion: This is not correct .

D . External environment analysis:

External environment analysis is a core service, not an auxiliary service.

Conclusion: This is not correct .
