CompTIA Security+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q499-Q504):

NEW QUESTION # 499

A security architect at a large, multinational organization is concerned about the complexities and overhead of managing multiple encryption keys securely in a multicloud provider environment.

The security architect is looking for a solution with reduced latency to allow the incorporation of the organization's existing keys and to maintain consistent, centralized control and management regardless of the data location. Which of the following would best meet the architect's objectives?

- A. PaaS
- B. IaaS
- C. HSMaaS
- D. Trusted Platform Module

Answer: C

Explanation:

HSM as a Service (HSMaaS), Hardware security modules (HSMs) are fortified, tamper-resistant hardware components that produce, safeguard, and manage keys for encrypting and decrypting data and establishing digital signatures and certificates.

NEW QUESTION # 500

While reviewing a recent compromise, a forensics team discovers that there are hard-coded credentials in the database connection strings. Which of the following assessment types should be performed during software development to prevent this from reoccurring?

- A. Penetration test
- B. Static analysis
- C. Vulnerability scan
- D. Quality assurance

Answer: B

Explanation:

Static analysis examines source code without executing it, enabling the detection of security flaws such as hard-coded credentials early in the software development process.

NEW QUESTION # 501

A company's web filter is configured to scan the URL for strings and deny access when matches are found. Which of the following search strings should an analyst employ to prohibit access to non-encrypted websites?

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 503

A company is concerned about weather events causing damage to the server room and downtime. Which of the following should the company consider?

- A. Geographic dispersion
- B. Load balancers
- C. Off-site backups
- D. Clustering servers

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

Geographic dispersion is a strategy that involves distributing the servers or data centers across different geographic locations.

Geographic dispersion can help the company to mitigate the risk of weather events causing damage to the server room and downtime, as well as improve the availability, performance, and resilience of the network. Geographic dispersion can also enhance the disaster recovery and business continuity capabilities of the company, as it can provide backup and failover options in case of a regional outage or disruption¹².

The other options are not the best ways to address the company's concern:

* Clustering servers: This is a technique that involves grouping multiple servers together to act as a single system. Clustering servers can help to improve the performance, scalability, and fault tolerance of the network, but it does not protect the servers from physical damage or downtime caused by weather events, especially if the servers are located in the same room or building³.

* Load balancers: These are devices or software that distribute the network traffic or workload among multiple servers or resources. Load balancers can help to optimize the utilization, efficiency, and reliability of the network, but they do not prevent the servers from being damaged or disrupted by weather events, especially if the servers are located in the same room or building⁴.

* Off-site backups: These are copies of data or files that are stored in a different location than the original source. Off-site backups can help to protect the data from being lost or corrupted by weather events, but they do not prevent the servers from being damaged or disrupted by weather events, nor do they ensure

* the availability or continuity of the network services.
