CompTIA Tech+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q291-Q296):

NEW QUESTION # 291

A user receives a notification about a new software vulnerability. Which of the following is the best way to secure the software?

- A. Applying updates
- B. Enabling authentication
- C. Configuring a firewall
- D. Uninstalling the program

Answer: A

Explanation:

Applying updates (also called patching) is the most effective way to secure software after a vulnerability is discovered. Vendors typically release patches that fix security flaws. While firewalls and authentication add layers of protection, they do not directly fix vulnerabilities. Uninstalling the program may not be practical or necessary.

NEW QUESTION # 292

Multiple users need to access and edit accounting records simultaneously. Which of the following should be used?

- A. Database
- B. Flat file
- C. Spreadsheet
- D. Fileshare

Answer: A

Explanation:

The correct answer is B. Database. The key requirement is that multiple users must access and edit records at the same time. A database is designed for multiple concurrent users and can lock individual records instead of locking an entire file. A flat file or spreadsheet does not handle simultaneous editing as effectively. A fileshare only provides a shared storage location; it does not provide database-level record locking, indexing, querying, or multiuser data management.

Exact Extract/Reference: The CompTIA Tech+ Study Guide states, "If you need to have multiple concurrent users accessing data, you need a database." It also explains that flat files do not work well when several users try to access them at once, while databases generally lock only at the record level so multiple people can actively use the database at one time.

NEW QUESTION # 293

Which of the following display types is bidirectional?

- A. DisplayPort
- B. DVI
- C. USB-C
- D. VGA

Answer: C

Explanation:

USB-C supports bidirectional communication, meaning it can send and receive data (including video) over the same connection.

NEW QUESTION # 294

Which of the following is an example of a float data type?

- A. -2.34
- B. 0
- C. abc
- D. 1

Answer: A

Explanation:

The CompTIA Tech+ Study Guide states:

"Floats are numbers that include decimals. Integers are whole numbers with no decimals, and strings are text." An example from the book:

"It's a float data type, which is a number with a decimal place."

Therefore, -2.34 represents a float.

Which of the following operating systems is most likely to be used to provide the GUI for a workplace employee?

- A. Firmware
- B. Workstation
- C. Hypervisor
- D. Server

Answer: B

Explanation:

These operating systems are designed for daily use by employees, providing a user-friendly environment for running applications, accessing files, and performing tasks.
