NLN Nursing Entrance Exam (Math, Science and Verbal) Sample Questions (Q117-Q122):

NEW QUESTION # 117

Word Knowledge

The word "essential" most nearly means:

- A. Temporary
- B. Optional
- C. Necessary
- D. Minor

Answer: C

Explanation:

"Essential" means absolutely necessary or vital. Option C is the correct synonym. The other options are opposites or unrelated. Essential is a high-frequency NEX word, especially in health and science contexts.

NEW QUESTION # 118

The four main types of macromolecules found in our cells are lipids, carbohydrates, proteins, and

- A. fatty acids.
- B. unsaturated fats.
- C. nucleic acids.
- D. phospholipids.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Macromolecules are large, complex molecules essential for life. The four major classes of biological macromolecules are carbohydrates, lipids, proteins, and nucleic acids. Carbohydrates provide energy and structural support, lipids are involved in energy storage and membrane structure, proteins perform a wide range of functions including enzymes and transport, and nucleic acids store and transmit genetic information.

DNA and RNA are examples of nucleic acids. The other answer choices-fatty acids, unsaturated fats, and phospholipids-are all types of lipids rather than separate macromolecule categories. The NEX Science exam often assesses whether students can distinguish between macromolecule categories and their subcomponents.

Recognizing nucleic acids as one of the four major macromolecules is fundamental to understanding genetics, protein synthesis, and cell function.

NEW QUESTION # 119

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), approximately 7% of children and adolescents ages 6 to 19 in the United States have a high total cholesterol. If 120,000 children and adolescents in that age range were sampled, approximately how many of them would have a normal total cholesterol?

- A. 8,400
- B. 111,600
- C. 84,000
- D. 113,000

Answer: B

Explanation:

This is a percentage complement problem. If 7% of children have high cholesterol, then the remaining percentage with normal cholesterol is  $100\% - 7\% = 93\%$ . Convert 93% to a decimal by moving the decimal point two places to the left: 0.93. Multiply this decimal by the total number of children sampled:  $0.93 \times$

$120,000 = 111,600$ . Therefore, approximately 111,600 children would have normal cholesterol levels, making option D correct.

Option A incorrectly calculates 7% instead of the complement. Option C represents 70%, not 93%. Option B is close but incorrect due to rounding. NEX math questions often assess whether students understand that "normal" refers to the remainder after subtracting the affected group.

NEW QUESTION # 120

The mean and standard deviation (SD) of the heights (in centimeters) of four groups of teenage boys are shown below:

Group #	Mean (cm)	SD
1	169	7.5
2	170	7.3
3	173	6.9
4	179	7.2

Data extrapolated from <http://www.cdc.gov/growthcharts>

Based on this information, which group has the least variability in height?

- A. Group 1
- B. Group 4
- C. Group 3
- D. Group 2

Answer: C

Explanation:

This question tests understanding of standard deviation as a measure of variability. The group with the smallest standard deviation has the least variability. Comparing the values, Group 3 has the smallest SD at 6.9.

Therefore, option C is correct. The mean does not affect variability; only the SD matters in this comparison.

The NEX often includes questions where students must interpret statistical summaries rather than perform calculations. Remember that lower SD values indicate data points are more closely clustered around the mean.

NEW QUESTION # 121

Which action is an example of inequity in healthcare?

- A. Providing flexible or extended healthcare appointment times
- B. Distributing free school lunches to all students
- C. Filtering water for one segment of the community, but not another
- D. Administering medication to all patients who report pain

Answer: C

Explanation:

Healthcare inequity occurs when certain groups receive fewer resources or lower-quality care than others.

Filtering water for only one segment of a community creates unequal access to a basic health necessity, increasing health risks for those excluded. The other options promote fairness and equal access to care. The NEX Science exam often evaluates understanding of social determinants of health and ethical principles, making option C the clearest example of inequity.
