HP Advanced HPE Storage Integrator Solutions Written Exam Sample Questions (Q43-Q48):

NEW QUESTION # 43
Review the diagram showing an Active Peer Persistence deployment across two arrays.
Question: Which Host Proximity Parameter should be configured for ESX31 to ensure localized access?

- A. Secondary
- B. All
- C. Primary
- D. Exclusive

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 44
Which statement is correct when enabling port trunking (FC ISL / Ethernet link aggregation)?

- A. For optimal performance, no more than 100 meters of cable length difference is acceptable.
- B. Ports need to belong to the same port group of the switch.
- C. Port Trunking is supported by default on every B-Series FC switch.
- D. The port speed of the trunk ports can be different based on the used switches in the ISL group.

Answer: B

Explanation:
Detailed Explanation:
Rationale for Correct Answer:
In B-Series (Brocade) SAN switches, trunking requires that all ports in a trunk group belong to the same port group (same ASIC) and run at the same speed. This ensures frame ordering and load balancing across ISLs.
Distractors:
A: Incorrect - cable length differences must be minimal, but not stated in meters like this.
C: Incorrect - speeds must match across all trunked ports.
D: Trunking requires a license on some Brocade models; not always enabled by default.
Key Concept: Port trunking requires same port group and same speed.

NEW QUESTION # 45
Your customer has deployed an HPE Alletra MP B10000 array in its virtualized environment. Data protection follows 3-2-1 best practices, with snapshots on the array, Veeam v12 backups, and storage on an external HPE StoreOnce appliance. Despite this, a ransomware attack made data recovery impossible.
Your customer asks how to enhance data protection with immutability and application consistency.
What is a possible solution using HPE Virtual Lock technology?

- A. Enable Virtual Lock on the VMware datastores in VMware vCenter
- B. Enable Virtual Lock on the HPE Alletra storage array
- C. Enable Virtual Lock on the HPE StoreOnce Catalyst stores
- D. Enable Virtual Lock for each backup job inside Veeam v12

Answer: C

Explanation:
Detailed Explanation:
Rationale for Correct Answer:
Option C is correct because HPE StoreOnce Virtual Lock technology provides immutability at the Catalyst store level, preventing backup data from being deleted or modified for a defined retention period.
This ensures ransomware or malicious actors cannot encrypt, alter, or delete the protected backups, aligning with modern data protection requirements for immutability and compliance. In integration with Veeam v12, backups stored on StoreOnce Catalyst stores can be locked, creating an additional immutability layer beyond application-consistent snapshots.
Analysis of Incorrect Options (Distractors):
A: Virtual Lock is not a Veeam feature. While Veeam v12 supports immutability on certain storage backends (object lock-enabled S3, hardened Linux repositories), HPE Virtual Lock is specific to StoreOnce Catalyst stores, not Veeam job settings.
B: VMware vCenter datastores do not have a native immutability feature. Snapshots in vCenter can be deleted or corrupted during ransomware events, making this option incorrect.
D: HPE Alletra arrays support application-consistent snapshots and replication, but they do not provide the immutability guarantee that StoreOnce Virtual Lock enforces. Array-level snapshots can still be deleted if admin credentials are compromised.
Key Concept:
This question targets knowledge of HPE StoreOnce Virtual Lock - a feature designed to enforce immutability on Catalyst backup stores, making backup data resistant to deletion or alteration during ransomware or insider attacks.

NEW QUESTION # 46

You are sizing an HPE Alletra Storage MP B10000 as shown in the graphic below.
What change must be made to the current storage configuration to achieve maximum IOPS performance?

- A. Additional network cards or HBAs need to be added for more throughput
- B. Additional disks need to be added to the system
- C. The controller must be upgraded to a 32-core model
- D. No change needed - the system is already operating at maximum performance

Answer: D

Explanation:
Detailed Explanation:
Rationale for Correct Answer:
From the exhibit, the system shows maximum estimated IOPS performance (over 250K IOPS read, 115K IOPS mixed, 62K write). These values align with HPE's published performance specifications for this model with full cores enabled. The network interface count and disk count are balanced relative to controller capability. Therefore, no further upgrades are required to achieve maximum performance.
Distractors:
A: Adding NICs/HBAs may improve throughput but will not exceed controller-bound IOPS.
B: Adding disks increases capacity, not peak IOPS, as performance is primarily controller-driven.
D: The system already matches controller capability; upgrading cores is not an option in Alletra MP B10000 mid-range systems.
Key Concept: Understanding performance sizing based on controller and architecture limits, not just capacity or NICs.

NEW QUESTION # 47

Your customer has just gone through a merger and is consolidating datacenters. They are currently using a mix of manufacturers.
They are evaluating whether to consolidate on HPE as their new standard. You are helping them size their new virtualized environment.

What additional information do you need to decide on an assessment tool?

- A. If they are using AWS or Azure public cloud storage
- B. If they are only purchasing in a CapEx model
- C. If they are virtualized on VMware or Hyper-V
- D. If any equipment has expired support contracts

Answer: C

Explanation:
Detailed Explanation:
Rationale for Correct Answer:
The choice of assessment tool (e.g., HPE CloudPhysics for VMware vs. CloudPhysics.vhdx collector for Hyper-V) depends primarily on the virtualization platform in use. VMware and Hyper-V require different collectors, and this is the deciding factor for tool selection.
Distractors:
A: Public cloud use matters for hybrid sizing but not for tool selection.
C: Expired contracts are unrelated to tool choice.
D: Procurement model (CapEx vs. GreenLake) is separate from sizing assessment.
Key Concept: Assessment tool choice = based on hypervisor platform (VMware vs Hyper-V).
