NEW QUESTION # 458

Which Is a source of data for analyzing staff flu vaccination trends for an accountable care organization?

- A. pharmacy procurement records
- B. insurance claims data
- C. vaccine manufacturer statistics
- D. electronic health records

Answer: D

Explanation:

An accountable care organization (ACO) is a network of health care providers that agrees to be accountable for the quality, cost, and overall care of a defined population of patients<sup>1</sup>.

ACOs aim to improve population health outcomes by coordinating care across different settings and providers, and by implementing quality improvement initiatives<sup>1</sup>.

One of the quality improvement initiatives that ACOs may adopt is to increase the influenza vaccination rate among their staff, especially those who have direct contact with patients<sup>2</sup>.

Influenza vaccination can prevent flu-related morbidity and mortality, reduce absenteeism and presenteeism, and protect vulnerable patients from infection<sup>3</sup>.

To analyze staff flu vaccination trends for an ACO, a source of data that can be used is electronic health records (EHRs)<sup>4</sup>. EHRs are digital versions of patients' medical histories, diagnoses, treatments, medications, immunizations, and other health information that are maintained by health care providers<sup>5</sup>.

EHRs can provide data on staff flu vaccination trends for an ACO by:

Identifying the staff members who belong to the ACO and their roles, locations, and contact information<sup>6</sup>.

Tracking the dates and types of flu vaccines that staff members received, as well as any adverse reactions or contraindications<sup>7</sup>.

Comparing the vaccination rates of staff members across different departments, facilities, and time periods<sup>8</sup>.

Evaluating the impact of flu vaccination on staff health outcomes, such as flu-like illness, hospitalization, and mortality.

Generating reports and feedback for staff members and managers on their flu vaccination status and performance.

Therefore, the correct answer is A. electronic health records, as this is a source of data that can be used to analyze staff flu vaccination trends for an ACO. References:
