NEW QUESTION # 202
An administrator is configuring a Panorama device group
Which two objects are configurable? (Choose two)

- A. SSL/TLS roles
- B. DNS Proxy
- C. URL Filtering profiles
- D. Address groups

Answer: C,D

Explanation:
Explanation
URL filtering is a feature in Palo Alto Networks firewalls that allows administrators to block access to specific URLs[1]. This feature can be configured via four different objects: Custom URL categories in URL Filtering profiles, PAN-DB URL categories in URL Filtering profiles, External Dynamic Lists (EDL) in URL Filtering profiles, and Custom URL categories in Security policy rules. The evaluation order for URL filtering is:
Custom URL categories in URL Filtering profile, PAN-DB URL categories in URL Filtering profile, EDL in URL Filtering profile, and Custom URL category in Security policy rule. This information can be found in the Palo Alto Networks PCNSE Study Guide, which can be accessed here:https://www.paloaltonetworks.com/documentation/80/pan-os/pan-os/resource-library/palo-alto-

NEW QUESTION # 203
Which three file types can be forwarded to WildFire for analysis as a part of the basic WildFire service? (Choose three.)

- A. .dll
- B. .jar
- C. .exe
- D. .apk
- E. .pdf
- F. .src

Answer: A,C,F

Explanation:
The question is asking for the free basic Wildfire Service which only allows for PE (Portable executables) files.
pe
Portable Executable (PE) files. PEs include executable files, object code, DLLs, FON (fonts), and LNK files. A subscription is not required to forward PE files for WildFire analysis, but is required for all other supported file types.
"With the basic WildFire service, the firewall can forward portable executable (PE) files for WildFire analysis", look online for PE files and you will get:
.acm, .ax, .cpl, .dll, .drv, .efi, .exe, .mui, .ocx, .scr, .sys, .tsp

NEW QUESTION # 204
What type of address object would be useful for internal devices where the addressing structure assigns meaning to certain bits in the address, as illustrated in the diagram?

- A. IP Address
- B. IP Netmask
- C. IP Range
- D. IP Wildcard Mask

Answer: D

Explanation:
https://docs.paloaltonetworks.com/pan-os/10-2/pan-os-admin/policy/use-address-object-to-represent-ip-addresses/address-objects An IP Wildcard Mask address object is useful for internal devices where the addressing structure assigns meaning to certain bits in the address, as illustrated in the diagram. An IP Wildcard Mask address object specifies which source or destination addresses are subject to a Security policy rule. A zero (0) bit in the mask indicates that the bit being compared must match the bit in the IP address that is covered by the zero. A one (1) bit in the mask (a wildcard bit) indicates that the bit being compared need not match the bit in the IP address1. For example, if you want to match all cash registers in the northeastern U.S., you can use an IP Wildcard Mask address object of 10.132.1.0/0.0.2.255, which will match any IP address from 10.132.1.0 to 10.132.3.255. NEW QUESTION # 205
After switching to a different WAN connection, users have reported that various websites will not load, and timeouts are occurring. The web servers work fine from other locations.
The firewall engineer discovers that some return traffic from these web servers is not reaching the users behind the firewall. The engineer later concludes that the maximum transmission unit (MTU) on an upstream router interface is set to 1400 bytes.
The engineer reviews the following CLI output for ethernet1/1.
Which setting should be modified on ethernet1/1 to remedy this problem?

- A. Adjust the TCP maximum segment size (MSS) value.
- B. Lower the interface MTU value below 1500.
- C. Enable the Ignore IPv4 Don't Fragment (DF) setting.
- D. Change the subnet mask from /23 to /24.

Answer: A

Explanation:
https://knowledgebase.paloaltonetworks.com/KCSArticleDetail?id=kA10g000000PN0gCAG Please note that even though adjusting the MSS value on the PA firewall solves the issue, the issue is not caused by the Firewall. The issue is caused by other hosts in the path that have lower MTU setting.
