NEW QUESTION # 305

Is the following description correct? MA5680T supports template mode and discrete configuration mode to configure FTTH services. In template mode configuration, use the ont-profile add command to configure the ONT.

- A. True
- B. False

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 306

The Ethernet II packet header (without the VLAN tag) contains () bytes?

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Ethernet II frame is the most commonly used Ethernet frame format. It consists of several fields, and its structure is well-defined in networking standards.

Structure of the Ethernet II Header:

Destination MAC Address (6 bytes): Specifies the MAC address of the intended recipient.

Source MAC Address (6 bytes): Specifies the MAC address of the sender.

EtherType (2 bytes): Indicates the protocol encapsulated in the payload (e.g., IPv4, ARP).

Total Size:

The Ethernet II header without a VLAN tag is 14 bytes in size. If a VLAN tag is added (using IEEE 802.1Q), the header size increases to 18 bytes due to the additional 4-byte VLAN tag.

NEW QUESTION # 307

The routing table of a router contains the following two entries:

Destination/Mask Protocol Pre Cost Nexthop Interface

9.0.0.0/8 OSPF 10 50 1.1.1.1 Serial0

9.1.0.0/16 RIP 100 5 2.2.2.2 Ethernet0

If the router needs to forward packets with the destination address of 9.1.4.5, which of the following statements is correct?

- A. The router selects the second route, because this route matches the destination address 9.1.4.5 more accurately.
- B. The router selects the second route, because the metric of RIP is smaller.
- C. The router selects the second route, because the outbound interface is Ethernet0, which is faster than Serial0.
- D. The router selects the first route, because the priority of OSPF is higher.

Answer: A

Explanation:

When a router forwards packets, it selects the route with the longest prefix match (most specific route) for the destination address.

* First Route : Matches 9.0.0.0/8, which covers all IP addresses starting with 9.

* Second Route : Matches 9.1.0.0/16, which is more specific and covers IP addresses starting with 9.1.

For the destination address 9.1.4.5, the second route (9.1.0.0/16) is a better match because it is more specific than the first route (9.0.0.0/8).

* Option A : Incorrect. OSPF has a higher priority, but the longest prefix match takes precedence over priority.

* Option B : Correct. The second route matches the destination address more accurately.

* Option C : Incorrect. Metric is not considered when comparing routes with different prefix lengths.

* Option D : Incorrect. Interface speed is irrelevant in route selection.
