CompTIA A+ Certification Exam: Core 2 Sample Questions (Q236-Q241):

NEW QUESTION # 236

A user reports that the hard drive activity light on a Windows 10 desktop computer has been steadily lit for more than an hour, and performance is severely degraded. Which of the following tabs in Task Manager would contain the information a technician would use to identify the cause of this issue?

- A. Startup
- B. Processes
- C. Performance
- D. Services

Answer: B

Explanation:

Processes tab in Task Manager would contain the information a technician would use to identify the cause of this issue. The Processes tab in Task Manager displays all the processes running on the computer, including the CPU and memory usage of each process. The technician can use this tab to identify the process that is causing the hard drive activity light to remain lit and the performance degradation.

NEW QUESTION # 237

A hard drive that previously contained PII needs to be repurposed for a public access workstation. Which of the following data destruction methods should a technician use to ensure data is completely removed from the hard drive?

- A. Degaussing
- B. Shredding
- C. Low-level formatting
- D. Recycling

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

Shredding is a data destruction method that physically destroys the hard drive by cutting it into small pieces using a machine. Shredding ensures that data is completely removed from the hard drive and cannot be recovered by any means. Shredding is suitable for hard drives that contain PII (personally identifiable information), which is any information that can be used to identify, contact, or locate an individual.

Degaussing, low-level formatting, and recycling are not data destruction methods that can guarantee complete data removal from a hard drive.

NEW QUESTION # 238

Remote employees need access to information that is hosted on local servers at the company. The IT department needs to find a solution that gives employees secure access to the company's resources as if the employees were on premises. Which of the following remote connection services should the IT team implement?

- A. VPN
- B. RDP
- C. SSH
- D. VNC

Answer: A

Explanation:

A VPN (Virtual Private Network) is a service that allows remote employees to access the company's network resources securely over the internet as if they were on premises. A VPN encrypts the data traffic between the employee's device and the VPN server, and assigns the employee a virtual IP address that belongs to the company's network. This way, the employee can access the local servers, files, printers, and other resources without exposing them to the public internet. A VPN also protects the employee's privacy and identity by masking their real IP address and location.

NEW QUESTION # 239

A workstation's hard drive is making loud noises, applications are running slowly, and the workstation is rebooting unexpectedly. Which of the following should the technician do first to begin troubleshooting the issue?

- A. Run CHKDSK.
- B. Perform a System Restore.
- C. Open Disk Cleanup.
- D. Replace the hard drive.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The correct answer is D. Run CHKDSK (Check Disk).

* CHKDSK is a command-line utility that scans and repairs file system errors and bad sectors on a disk.

Running this tool first can determine whether the hard drive is experiencing file system corruption or physical failure.

* If CHKDSK reports bad sectors or extensive corruption, it indicates that the drive is failing, and data backup should be performed immediately before replacing the drive.

* Syntax Example:chkdsk /f/r

Syntax Example:chkdsk /f/r

Syntax Example:chkdsk /f/r

* /f - Fixes file system errors.

* /r - Locates bad sectors and recovers readable information.

Why Other Options Are Incorrect:

* A. Perform a System Restore - System Restore can revert system settings, but it does not fix hardware issues like a failing hard drive.

* B. Open Disk Cleanup - Disk Cleanup removes temporary files but does not diagnose or repair disk issues.

* C. Replace the hard drive - While replacement may be necessary, a technician should first diagnose the issue using CHKDSK before determining if the drive needs to be replaced.

CompTIA A+ 220-1102 Exam Reference:

* Objective 4.1 - Given a scenario, troubleshoot common problems related to storage and RAID.

NEW QUESTION # 240

A customer reports high data usage on a smartphone that reaches its monthly data limit within the first week of each billing cycle. The customer uses the phone primarily for calls and SMS messages with minimal content streaming. A technician troubleshoots the phone and notices that both developer mode and installs from unknown sources are enabled. Which of the following should the technician check next?

- A. Privacy settings
- B. Storage cache
- C. Permissions
- D. Malicious applications

Answer: D

Explanation:

Since both developer mode and the ability to install apps from unknown sources are enabled, the technician should check for Malicious applications (Option B). Unknown sources can allow unverified apps that may include malware or apps that use excessive background data without the user's knowledge. Checking for malicious apps is essential in this scenario.

* Storage cache (Option A) would not typically cause high data usage.

* Privacy settings (Option C) control data sharing and permissions but don't directly impact data usage.

* Permissions (Option D) might help identify apps using data, but the focus should be on apps that could be malicious.

CompTIA A+ Core 2 References:

* 2.7 - Explain common methods for securing mobile devices, including detecting and preventing malware.
