Sample Questions (Q97-Q102):

NEW QUESTION # 97

In the FIDIC Silver Book (both editions), the Notice of the Commencement Date will be informed by whom?

(1 correct response applies)

- A. The Engineer
- B. The Employer's Representative
- C. The Employer
- D. The Engineer's Resident Engineer

Answer: C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation:

In the FIDIC Silver Book (1999 and 2017 editions), which is tailored for EPC/Turnkey contracts, the Employer is responsible for notifying the Contractor of the Commencement Date (Sub-Clause 8.1). Unlike other FIDIC contracts where the Engineer might notify commencement, the Silver Book places more responsibility on the Employer due to the nature of the contract where the Contractor is largely responsible for design and execution with fewer Engineer roles.

The Employer's formal notification of the Commencement Date signals the official start of the Contractor's obligations and triggers timelines under the contract.

The Engineer or Resident Engineer typically does not issue such notice in the Silver Book framework.

NEW QUESTION # 98

For the FIDIC Red Book (both editions), the Contractor is required to submit a progress report monthly.

When does the Contractor's reporting requirement end?

- A. Until all outstanding works as stated in the Taking-Over Certificate are completed.
- B. At the Date of Completion of the Works (irrespective of whether there is minor outstanding work to be performed).
- C. After issuance of the Taking-Over Certificate.
- D. After issuance of the Performance Certificate.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Contractor's obligation to submit progress reports continues until all outstanding work identified in the Taking-Over Certificate has been completed. The Taking-Over Certificate signals substantial completion but may allow for outstanding minor works.

Reporting is essential to monitor progress on these outstanding works.

The Performance Certificate relates to final contract completion but reporting usually ends earlier only after all works are completed.

Therefore, Option D is correct.

NEW QUESTION # 99

Regarding the FIDIC Red Book (edition 1999), which two statements are true?

- A. A notice is to be signed by the Engineer, Contractor's Representative or Employer's Authorised Representative.
- B. In emergency situations notices can also be submitted verbally (rather than (also) in writing).
- C. Notices and other communications may be sent in hand written, type written, in print or through an electronic original transmission system.
- D. A notice and other communications may be delivered by hand, courier and mail. In each case with proof of receipt is required to qualify as legally valid.

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation:

Option A is true: In emergencies, verbal notices are permitted with the requirement to follow up in writing.

Option D is true: Notices and communications may be sent in various formats including handwritten, typed, printed, or electronic systems.

Option B is incorrect; a notice does not necessarily have to be signed by all these representatives; it depends on the party issuing the notice.

Option C is incorrect; proof of receipt is ideal but not always strictly required for legal validity depending on contract provisions.

NEW QUESTION # 100

The Contractor is entitled to an advance payment. Applying FIDIC Red Book (edition 1999), which two of the following statements are correct?

Choose all of the correct answers (multiple possibilities):

- A. The advance payment reflects the amount of works the Contractor has already performed up to the moment such advance payment is performed.
- B. Under the General Conditions, the advance payment will be repaid by deducting all amounts from invoices until the entire advance payment is repaid.
- C. The advance payment is to help the Contractor to finance some of its early cost and expenditure until it becomes entitled to first (non-interim) payment.
- D. Under the General Conditions, the amount of advance payment is to be paid in full by the Employer through one instalment.

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation:

Under FIDIC Red Book 1999, advance payment is intended to assist the Contractor in financing the mobilization and early works costs before the Contractor begins receiving regular payments for work performed (Option A). It is not a payment for work already completed, so Option B is incorrect.

The General Conditions provide that the advance payment is usually made in a lump sum or agreed instalments and that the Employer makes the payment in advance (Option C is partially true but generally it can be one or multiple instalments, depending on contract terms).

Importantly, the advance payment must be repaid by the Contractor through deductions from subsequent interim payments (Option D), ensuring the Employer recovers the advanced funds as the work progresses.

NEW QUESTION # 101

Which FIDIC Book (edition 2017) should be considered first by an Employer that is an experienced employer who knows exactly what they want from a design & engineering perspective?

- A. Yellow Book
- B. Red Book
- C. Yellow or Silver Book
- D. Silver Book

Answer: B

Explanation:

The FIDIC Red Book (2017 edition) is traditionally used for construction contracts where the Employer provides the design, and the Contractor primarily executes the construction works. This form is suitable for Employers who have detailed and well-defined design and engineering requirements and want to retain control over the design.

* The Red Book is ideal for experienced Employers who have a clear and fixed design and require the Contractor to build accordingly.

* The Yellow Book is typically used where the Contractor is responsible for both design and construction (design & build). It suits Employers who want to delegate design responsibility to the Contractor.

* The Silver Book is used for turnkey or EPC contracts where the Contractor takes full responsibility for design, procurement, construction, and commissioning, suitable for Employers seeking minimal involvement in design and execution details.

* Hence, for an Employer who knows exactly what they want from a design and engineering perspective and wants to maintain control, the Red Book is the first and most appropriate choice.
