NEW QUESTION # 221

A technician is in the process of installing a new hard drive on a server but is called away to another task. The drive has been unpackaged and left on a desk. Which of the following should the technician perform before leaving?

- A. Ask coworkers to make sure no one touches the hard drive.
- B. Connect an electrostatic discharge strap to the drive.
- C. Leave the hard drive on the table; it will be okay while the other task is completed.
- D. Place the hard drive in an antistatic bag and secure the area containing the hard drive.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The technician should place the hard drive in an antistatic bag and secure the area containing the hard drive before leaving. This will protect the hard drive from electrostatic discharge (ESD), dust, moisture, and physical damage. Asking coworkers to make sure no one touches the hard drive is not a reliable or secure way to prevent damage. Leaving the hard drive on the table exposes it to ESD and other environmental hazards. Connecting an electrostatic discharge strap to the drive is not enough to protect it from dust, moisture, and physical damage.

NEW QUESTION # 222

A user is configuring a new SOHO Wi-Fi router for the first time. Which of the following settings should the user change FIRST?

- A. Encryption
- B. Default passwords
- C. Service set identifier
- D. Wi-Fi channel

Answer: B

Explanation:

the user should change the default passwords first when configuring a new SOHO Wi-Fi router.

NEW QUESTION # 223

A technician downloaded a software program to a network share. When the technician attempts to copy the program to the Windows tablet for installation, the technician receives an error. Which of the following is the best procedure for the technician to use to complete the assignment?

- A. Burn the program file to a CD and install.
- B. Format the HDD and then do the installation.
- C. Copy the program file to a USB drive and install.
- D. Replace the HDD and then do the installation.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Copying the program file to a USB drive and installing it from there is the simplest and most reliable way to transfer the software from the network share to the Windows tablet. The other options are either unnecessary, risky, or impractical. Burning the program file to a CD requires a CD burner and a CD reader, which may not be available on the tablet. Formatting or replacing the HDD will erase all the data and settings on the tablet, which is not advisable unless there is a backup or a serious problem. Moreover, formatting or replacing the HDD will not solve the issue of copying the program file from the network share.

NEW QUESTION # 224

A company needs employees who work remotely to have secure access to the corporate intranet. Which of the following should the company implement?

- A. Virtual private network
- B. Port forwarding
- C. Perimeter network
- D. Password-protected Wi-Fi

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 225

A user's iPhone was permanently locked after several failed login attempts. Which of the following will restore access to the device?

- A. Secondary account and recovery code
- B. Facial recognition and PIN code
- C. Primary account and password
- D. Fingerprint and pattern

Answer: A

Explanation:

A secondary account and recovery code are used to reset the primary account and password on an iPhone after it has been locked due to failed login attempts. Fingerprint, pattern, facial recognition and PIN code are biometric or numeric methods that can be used to unlock an iPhone, but they are not helpful if the device has been permanently locked.
