Google Professional Chrome Enterprise Administrator Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q50-Q55):

NEW QUESTION # 50
An end user is returning from an extended leave of absence and finds their browser is no longer active The administrator is not sure if the inactivity policy has been violated What is the minimum action necessary to re-enroll this browser?

- A. Close and reopen Chrome
- B. Verify the policy has been violated and then wipe the browser
- C. Delete the browser from CEC and reopen Chrome
- D. Delete the device management token and reopen Chrome

Answer: D

Explanation:
If a browser becomes inactive due to policy, the device management token likely needs to be refreshed or re- established. Deleting the token and then reopening Chrome will typically trigger the browser to attempt re- enrollment and obtain a new token, bringing it back under management. Wiping the browser or deleting it from the CEC might be necessary in more severe cases but is not the minimum action. Simply closing and reopening Chrome might not be sufficient if the token has expired or been invalidated.

NEW QUESTION # 51
A systems engineer recently cloud enrolled Chrome browsers, which were previously managed via group policy, and deployed a policy through Chrome Enterprise Core. However, the policy is not applying. After validating the policy via chrome://policy, the status shows a warning conflict What is the best way to resolve this issue?

- A. Restart the computer to apply the policy changes
- B. Re-enroll the Chrome browser to reset the policy
- C. Check and configure the precedence order
- D. Adjust the policy merge list setting

Answer: C

Explanation:
A "warning conflict" in `chrome://policy` indicates that multiple policy sources are trying to control the same setting. Since the browsers were previously managed by Group Policy, there's likely a conflict between the cloud policy and the local Group Policy. The best way to resolve this is to check and configure the precedence order of policy sources. Ensure that Cloud Policy is set to have the desired precedence over Group Policy if that's the intention. Restarting the computer might apply existing policies but won't resolve the conflict in precedence. Adjusting a "policy merge list setting" is not a standard term for resolving this type of conflict. Re-enrolling might give a fresh start but doesn't address the underlying conflict in policy sources.

NEW QUESTION # 52
Where can information about all of the profiles associated with a browser be found*?

- A. Managed devices
- B. Managed browsers detail
- C. Chrome log events
- D. Chrome Insights report

Answer: B

Explanation:
The "Managed browsers detail" page in the Google Admin console provides specific information about individual managed Chrome browser instances. This includes details about the profiles associated with that browser, such as the signed-in users and their management status. Chrome log events might contain some profile-related information but are more focused on actions. The "Managed devices" section primarily focuses on ChromeOS devices. The "Chrome Insights report" provides a high-level overview rather than detailed profile information for a specific browser instance.

NEW QUESTION # 53
An administrator decides to shorten the default time that a browser may be inactive before automatic deletion from the Google Admin console What policy must be selected for the Device Token Management policy to allow devices to re-enroll in the Google Admin console?

- A. Invalidate Token
- B. Revoke Token
- C. Delete Token
- D. Renew Token

Answer: D

Explanation:
When managing inactive device tokens, the "Renew Token" option is crucial for allowing devices to re-enroll after a period of inactivity. If the token is revoked, invalidated, or deleted, the device will likely require a manual re-enrollment process. Renewing the token provides a mechanism for the device to check back in and remain managed.

NEW QUESTION # 54
An organization has Chrome set to auto-update The security team runs a compliance report from Chrome Enterprise Core and notices that some rarely used machines are showing an old version of Chrome However, when an engineer logs in to these PCs and checks Chrome directly, the correct updated version appears What is the most likely reason for this discrepancy?

- A. Network setting is blocking the unattended auto-update check
- B. The display version does not update until Chrome is launched

- C. The machine has a different version of Chrome installed that is not managed via auto update
- D. The auto-update feature is malfunctioning and not updating Chrome until it is launched

Answer: B

Explanation:
The most likely reason for this discrepancy is that the version reported in the Chrome Enterprise Core compliance report might not be updated in real-time until Chrome is actively running and checks in. When an engineer logs in and launches Chrome, it likely completes the update process and reports the correct version.
The auto-update feature generally works in the background, and a completely different unmanaged version (option C) or a persistent network block (option D) would likely prevent updates even when Chrome is launched. A malfunctioning auto-update (option A) is less likely to resolve itself upon manual launch.
