NEW QUESTION # 161
A solutions architect needs to design a highly available application consisting of web, application, and database tiers. HTTPS content delivery should be as close to the edge as possible, with the least delivery time.
Which solution meets these requirements and is MOST secure?

- A. Configure a public Application Load Balancer with multiple redundant Amazon EC2 instances in public subnets. Configure Amazon CloudFront to deliver HTTPS content using the EC2 instances as the origin.
- B. Configure a public Application Load Balancer (ALB) with multiple redundant Amazon EC2 instances in private subnets.

Configure Amazon CloudFront to deliver HTTPS content using the public ALB as the origin.
- C. Configure a public Application Load Balancer with multiple redundant Amazon EC2 instances in private subnets. Configure Amazon CloudFront to deliver HTTPS content using the EC2 instances as the origin.
- D. Configure a public Application Load Balancer (ALB) with multiple redundant Amazon EC2 instances in public subnets. Configure Amazon CloudFront to deliver HTTPS content using the public ALB as the origin.

Answer: B

Explanation:
Explanation
This solution meets the requirements for a highly available application with web, application, and database tiers, as well as providing edge-based content delivery. Additionally, it maximizes security by having the ALB in a private subnet, which limits direct access to the web servers, while still being able to serve traffic over the Internet via the public ALB. This will ensure that the web servers are not exposed to the public Internet, which reduces the attack surface and provides a secure way to access the application.

An AWS account owner has setup multiple IAM users. One of these IAM users, named John, has CloudWatch access, but no access to EC2 services. John has setup an alarm action which stops EC2 instances when their CPU utilization is below the threshold limit.
When an EC2 instance's CPU Utilization rate drops below the threshold John has set, what will happen and why?

- A. CloudWatch will stop the instance when the action is executed
- B. Nothing will happen. John cannot set an alarm on EC2 since he does not have the permission.
- C. Nothing will happen because it is not possible to stop the instance using the CloudWatch alarm
- D. Nothing will happen. John can setup the action, but it will not be executed because he does not have EC2 access through IAM policies.

Answer: D

Explanation:
Explanation/Reference:
Explanation:
Amazon CloudWatch alarms watch a single metric over a time period that the user specifies and performs one or more actions based on the value of the metric relative to a given threshold over a number of time periods. The user can setup an action which stops the instances when their CPU utilization is below a certain threshold for a certain period of time. The EC2 action can either terminate or stop the instance as part of the EC2 action. If the IAM user has read/write permissions for Amazon CloudWatch but not for Amazon EC2, he can still create an alarm.
However, the stop or terminate actions will not be performed on the Amazon EC2 instance.
