IAPP Certified Artificial Intelligence Governance Professional Sample Questions (Q116-Q121):

NEW QUESTION # 116

What is the most significant risk of deploying an AI model that can create realistic images and videos?

- A. Security breaches.
- B. Output cannot be protected.
- C. Copyright infringement.
- D. Downstream harms.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The greatest risk from AI systems generating realistic synthetic media is downstream harm, such as deepfakes, misinformation, reputational damage, and erosion of trust.

From the AI Governance in Practice Report 2025:

"With generative AI, downstream harms such as deception, reputational damage, misinformation, and manipulation can emerge even if original use was lawful." (p. 55-56)

NEW QUESTION # 117

When assessing the success of an AI system in meeting its objectives, which of the following approaches best aligns with the requirement to ensure a comprehensive evaluation while avoiding automation bias?

- A. Rely on the AI system's output to determine if the goals were achieved as this will provide a reliable and objective measure.
- B. Evaluate and align pre-defined benchmarks which will provide evidence of having achieved your system goals.
- C. Focus on user feedback about the AI system's performance to directly measure the system's effectiveness in meeting the objectives.
- D. Conduct a thorough review that includes the AI system's input and output data, human interpretation, and potential secondary or unintended outputs.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 118

During the development of semi-autonomous vehicles, various failures occurred as a result of the sensors misinterpreting environmental surroundings, such as sunlight. These failures are an example of:

- A. Forgetting.
- B. Uncertainty.
- C. Hallucination.
- D. Brittleness.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Brittleness refers to AI systems failing unexpectedly when encountering slight variations or edge cases, such as sensor misinterpretation due to sunlight.

NEW QUESTION # 119

The best method to ensure a comprehensive identification of risks for a new AI model is?

- A. An environmental scan.
- B. Integration testing.
- C. An impact assessment.
- D. Red teaming.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The most comprehensive way to identify a full range of risks - legal, ethical, operational, and societal - for a new AI model is through a formal impact assessment, such as a Data Protection Impact Assessment (DPIA) or Algorithmic Impact Assessment.

From the AI Governance in Practice Report 2025:

"Risk-based approaches are often distilled into organizational risk management efforts, which put impact assessments at the heart of deciding whether harm can be reduced." (p. 29)

"DPIAs... help organizations identify, analyze and minimize data-related risks and demonstrate accountability." (p. 30)

* A. Environmental scans too general.

* B. Red teaming is useful for adversarial risk but not broad.

* C. Integration testing focuses on technical/system compatibility, not overall risk.

NEW QUESTION # 120

CASE STUDY

Please use the following answer the next question:

ABC Corp, is a leading insurance provider offering a range of coverage options to individuals. ABC has decided to utilize artificial intelligence to streamline and improve its customer acquisition and underwriting process, including the accuracy and efficiency of pricing policies.

ABC has engaged a cloud provider to utilize and fine-tune its pre-trained, general purpose large language model ("LLM"). In particular, ABC intends to use its historical customer data-including applications, policies, and claims-and proprietary pricing and risk strategies to provide an initial qualification assessment of potential customers, which would then be routed .. human underwriter for final review.

ABC and the cloud provider have completed training and testing the LLM, performed a readiness assessment, and made the decision to deploy the LLM into production. ABC has designated an internal compliance team to monitor the model during the first month, specifically to evaluate the accuracy, fairness, and reliability of its output. After the first month in production, ABC realizes that the LLM declines a higher percentage of women's loan applications due primarily to women historically receiving lower salaries than men.

During the first month when ABC monitors the model for bias, it is most important to?

- A. Seek approval from management for any changes to the model.
- B. Analyze the quality of the training and testing data.
- C. Continue disparity testing.
- D. Compare the results to human decisions prior to deployment.

Answer: C

Explanation:

During the first month of monitoring the model for bias, it is most important to continue disparity testing.

Disparity testing involves regularly evaluating the model's decisions to identify and address any biases, ensuring that the model operates fairly across different demographic groups.

Reference: Regular disparity testing is highlighted in the AIGP Body of Knowledge as a critical practice for maintaining the fairness and reliability of AI models. By continuously monitoring for and addressing disparities, organizations can ensure their AI systems remain compliant with ethical and legal standards, and mitigate any unintended biases that may arise in production.
