There are no explicitly testable objectives provided in this domain, but candidates are expected to understand troubleshooting and optimization principles to maintain the VMware environment effectively in real-world deployments.

Topic 2	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Install, Configure, Administrate the VMware Solution: This section of the exam is relevant to System Administrators. Although it has no directly testable objectives, it underlines the expectation that candidates are familiar with installation, configuration, and administration tasks that form the foundation for VMware Cloud Foundation solutions.
Topic 3	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Plan and Design the VMware Solution: This section measures the skills of Cloud Infrastructure Designers. It focuses on gathering and analyzing business requirements and then transforming them into conceptual, logical, and physical models of VMware Cloud Foundation. Candidates are expected to identify prerequisites and make design decisions across fleet topologies, networking, management domains, workload domains, automation, and operations. The section also includes designing for availability within and across zones, creating strategies for manageability such as lifecycle, scalability, and capacity, and ensuring performance and recoverability through BCDR strategies. Additional emphasis is given to designing secure environments, workload migration strategies, and creating consumption, automation, and monitoring strategies to support modern applications and governance.
Topic 4	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • VMware Products and Solutions: This section of the exam evaluates the knowledge of VMware Solution Specialists and focuses on VMware Cloud Foundation (VCF). Candidates must be able to identify and differentiate between various VCF architecture options in given scenarios. The emphasis is on understanding the key products and how they integrate into enterprise design choices.
Topic 5	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • IT Architectures, Technologies, Standards: This section of the exam measures the skills of IT Architects and covers the ability to distinguish business requirements from technical ones. It expects candidates to understand the differences between conceptual, logical, and physical designs while also differentiating requirements, assumptions, constraints, and risks. Core concepts of availability, manageability, performance, recoverability, and security (AMPRS) are tested. Learners also need to document risk mitigation strategies, design decisions, and create a validation strategy that ties requirements to practical implementation.

NEW QUESTION # 82

An architect is tasked with designing a new VMware Cloud Foundation (VCF) solution. During workshops with the customer, the following requirements were captured:

* REQ01: The solution must provide a self-service catalog.

* REQ02: The solution must support the segregation of the Development and Production resources (networks, virtual machines, users).

When documenting the design decisions, which statement should the architect include in order to help meet these requirements?

- A. VCF Automation does not support the use of multiple Active Directory domains.
- B. Separate workload domains must be configured to provide segregation between the Development and Production environments.
- C. VCF Automation will be configured with separate organizations for Development and Production.
- D. VCF Automation will be configured with separate service catalog instances for Development and Production.

Answer: C

Explanation:

In the VMware Cloud Foundation 9.0.4 Architecture and Design Guide, VCF Automation supports multi-tenancy through the creation of separate organizations, each with its own catalog, users, and identity source.

The document under "Organizations in VCF Automation" explains:

"Organizations in VCF Automation are created by the provider administrator in the Provider Management Portal. Each organization has its own identity source and resource allocations. The organization administrator can then configure its own self-service catalog and governance policies." By configuring separate organizations for Development and Production, the architect ensures logical segregation of resources, catalogs, and permissions. Each organization can manage its own projects, namespaces, and service catalogs independently, meeting both the self-service and segregation requirements.

This design aligns with VMware's provider-tenant model, where each tenant (organization) operates autonomously while still being managed under a common provider infrastructure.
