Explanation:

The correct setting is Restricted site access configured with Group1 . Microsoft Learn states that you can restrict access to a SharePoint site by specifying Microsoft Entra security groups or Microsoft 365 groups as the Restricted Access Control group . Microsoft also states that, after the policy is applied, a user can access the site content only if the user both already has permission to the site or content and is a member of the specified restricted access group. This exactly matches the requirement: users who currently have access to Site1 must also be members of Group1 to continue accessing the content.

The Restrict content from Microsoft 365 Copilot setting is unrelated to direct user access to the SharePoint site. That control limits whether Copilot can use site content, but it does not block users from opening the site themselves. Microsoft separately explains that Restricted SharePoint Search and Copilot restrictions are not the same as changing actual SharePoint permissions or access boundaries. So for this scenario, keep the Copilot restriction Off and configure Restricted site access with Group1 .

NEW QUESTION # 68

A user is blocked from signing in and the admin suspects Conditional Access or a risky sign-in detection. Which two tools in the Microsoft Entra admin center should the administrator use first to identify the exact sign-in failure and which policy caused it? (Select TWO)

- A. Microsoft Entra ID Application proxy
- B. Microsoft 365 Service Health dashboard
- C. Exchange Online Message Trace
- D. Conditional Access What If tool
- E. Sign-in logs and Troubleshoot and support in Microsoft Entra ID

Answer: D,E

Explanation:

Option A: This tool allows the administrator to simulate a sign-in for a specific user under specific conditions (e.g., location, device state) to determine which Conditional Access policies would apply and whether they would result in a grant or a block. This is ideal for pre-emptively troubleshooting a suspected Conditional Access block.

Option C: The Sign-in logs are the definitive source of truth for all sign-in attempts, providing the outcome, the reason for failure (including block by Conditional Access or ID Protection), and the policy name that was applied. The Troubleshoot and support blade often provides targeted troubleshooting flows for sign-in and access issues.

NEW QUESTION # 69

You are reviewing your company's security policies as part of a Zero Trust strategy. Which statement accurately describes the Zero Trust principles?

- A. Zero Trust assumes breach and verifies each request.
- B. Zero Trust treats all requests from your corporate network as trustworthy.
- C. Zero Trust removes the need to regularly review and adjust access permissions.
- D. Zero Trust enhances the user experience by minimizing authentication prompts.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The correct answer is A . Microsoft Learn defines Zero Trust as a security strategy built on the principles verify explicitly , use least privilege access , and assume breach . Microsoft also summarizes Zero Trust as a model that assumes breach and verifies every request , rather than trusting users, devices, or traffic simply because they originate from inside the corporate network. This is the key reason option A is correct.

Under Zero Trust, every access request should be evaluated continuously using available signals such as identity, device state, location, service, and risk.

Option B is incorrect because improving user experience is not the defining principle of Zero Trust. Option C is incorrect because Zero Trust requires ongoing review and adjustment of permissions, especially through least privilege and risk-based access. Option D is incorrect because Zero Trust explicitly rejects implicit trust based on network location. Microsoft states that organizations should reduce reliance on the traditional idea that anything on the internal network is automatically safe or trustworthy.

NEW QUESTION # 70

Select the answer that correctly completes the sentence.

Answer:

Explanation:

eDiscovery

Explanation:

You can use the eDiscovery Microsoft Purview solution to find all the content that relates to the term "Project Falcon" in the emails exchanged by two users.

The correct answer is eDiscovery . Microsoft documents that Microsoft Purview eDiscovery is used to search for content in Microsoft 365 data sources that is relevant to an investigation, legal matter, or internal review.

Microsoft specifically states that eDiscovery search can find email messages, documents, instant messages, and other content across Microsoft 365 locations, including Exchange Online mailboxes . This makes it the correct solution for locating content related to a keyword or phrase such as "Project Falcon" in emails exchanged between specific users.

This is different from other Purview solutions such as Communication Compliance, which is designed to monitor risky or inappropriate communications, or Data Lifecycle Management, which is for retention and deletion. The requirement here is targeted search and retrieval of content connected to a specific term in user email communications, which is exactly what eDiscovery is designed to do. Microsoft also notes that eDiscovery supports keyword queries and search conditions, which further aligns with this scenario.

NEW QUESTION # 71

A critical governance risk when implementing Microsoft 365 Copilot is the potential for oversharing of corporate data. The Chief Compliance Officer is concerned that, because Copilot uses all data a user can access, a user may inadvertently get access to sensitive information they should not have. What is the most common cause of this oversharing risk that administrators must address as a high-priority governance task before deploying Copilot widely?

- A. Copilot chat history is not subject to eDiscovery or retention
- B. Overly broad permissions granted to sites or files
- C. Copilot bypasses SharePoint access controls when content is indexed
- D. Azure OpenAI model training uses tenant data and retains it in the tenant

Answer: B

Explanation:

The core risk (and a key administrative task before Copilot deployment) is that if a document has been accidentally or intentionally granted access to "Everyone" or "All Company" in SharePoint or OneDrive, every licensed Copilot user will have the potential to retrieve and summarize that data.

Since Copilot respects existing permissions, it will expose the broad access that was already present in the M365 environment, making the overly broad permission the root cause of the oversharing risk.
