NEW QUESTION # 27

You have reviewed out-of-the-box data security through the configuration of context assignment. You need to create custom data security to meet your data security requirements.

Which FAW settings provide this functionality?

- A. A combination of steps in Security Console and the Security Configurations in the Semantic Model Extensions available at the FAW Console provides this functionality.
- B. The Security Configurations available in the Semantic Model Extensions through the FAW Console provide this functionality
- C. You need to modify the Data Security Assignment file with the values you want for the users.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

To create custom data security to meet your data security requirements, you need a combination of steps in Security Console and the Security Configurations in the Semantic Model Extensions available at the FAW Console. The Security Console allows you to create custom data roles and assign them to users or groups⁵. The Security Configurations allow you to define custom security filters and apply them to dimensions, facts, or subject areas⁶. You do not need to use only the Security Configurations or modify the Data Security Assignment file for this purpose.

NEW QUESTION # 28

You have reviewed the predefined security model for FAW. It meets most of your requirements, but you have specific business needs. How can you address your specific security business requirements within the FAW Application?

- A. You must address those requirements in Fusion Applications and sync up those changes to FAW.
- B. Currently, only the out-of-the-box security model is supported.
- C. You can use the security customization in FAW for both data security and object security to meet your requirements.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

To address your specific security business requirements within the FAW Application, you can use the security customization in FAW for both data security and object security. Data security allows you to restrict access to data based on various attributes, such as business unit, legal entity, department, or any other filter criteria⁷. Object security allows you to restrict access to objects, such as subject areas, facts, dimensions, KPIs, dashboards, or reports based on user roles or groups⁸. You do not need to address those requirements in Fusion Applications or rely on only the out-of-the-box security model.

NEW QUESTION # 29

In the FAW Security framework, which mapping paradigm best describes the mapping of Security Content to Data Roles?

- A. Security Context to Data Role is one-to-many
- B. Security Context to Data Role is many-to-many
- C. Security Context to Data Role is one-to-one

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

The FAW Security framework allows a flexible and extensible mapping of Security Content to Data Roles. A Security Content is a predefined attribute that defines the boundaries of data access for a given subject area, such as Business Unit, Country, Department, Job Family, Legal Entity, and Worker Type. A Data Role is a custom role that grants access to specific subsets of data in the data warehouse based on the Security Content.

A Security Content can be mapped to multiple Data Roles, and a Data Role can have multiple Security Content associated with it. For example, a Security Content of Country = US can be mapped to a Data Role of US HR Manager, and a Data Role of US HR Manager can have multiple Security Content such as Country = US, Business Unit = Sales, and Department = Marketing.
