The Approvals Component deals with all aspects of human approval in Oracle APEX, allowing you to put approval functionality into your applications. The Approvals Component creates one or more tasks for items that require approval based on a pre-configured template, known as the Task Definition. The Task Definition specifies the data source, display attributes, potential owners, business administrators, and available actions for the tasks. You can set up task approvers and administrators at design time or determine them dynamically at runtime based on data related to the task. NEW QUESTION # 36

You must use a Static Content region type to display messages about the employees of the month. Employee names are stored in the P1_ENAME page item. Which text, when placed in Source, will display the message correctly?

- A. Join me in congratulating :P1_ENAME as the new employee of the month!
- B. Join me in congratulating &P1_ENAME, as the new employee of the month!
- C. Join me in congratulating v('P1_ENAME') as the new employee of the month!

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

A Static Content region type is used to display static text or HTML content on a page. To display messages about the employees of the month, you can use a Static Content region type with substitution variables that reference page items. Substitution variables are enclosed in ampersands (&) and can be used to dynamically replace text with values from page items or application items. The correct text to display the message is "Join me in congratulating &P1_ENAME, as the new employee of the month!" The other options are incorrect because they use either colons (:) or v() function, which are not valid ways to reference page items in Static Content regions.
