156-536 Practical Information - 156-536 Real Sheets

The CheckPoint 156-536 certification is on trending nowadays, and many CheckPoint aspirants are trying to get it. Success in the 156-536 test helps you land well-paying jobs. Additionally, the 156-536 certification exam is also beneficial to get promotions in your current company. But the main problem that every applicant faces while preparing for the 156-536 Certification test is not finding updated Check Point Certified Harmony Endpoint Specialist - R81.20 (CCES) (156-536) practice questions.

CheckPoint Check Point Certified Harmony Endpoint Specialist - R81.20 (CCES) Sample Questions (Q55-Q60):

NEW QUESTION # 55

As an Endpoint Administrator you are facing with some errors related to AD Strong Authentication in Endpoint Management server. Where is the right place to look when you are troubleshooting these issues?

- A. $UEMPDIR/log/Authentication.elg
- B. $UEPMDIR/logs/Authentication.log
- C. $FWDIR/logs/Auth.log
- D. $FWDIR/log/Authentication.log

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 56

What does pre-boot protection require of users?

- A. To authenticate before the computer's OS starts
- B. To authenticate before the computer will start
- C. To regularly change passwords
- D. To answer a security question after login

Answer: A

Explanation:

Pre-boot protection in Check Point Harmony Endpoint requires users to authenticate before the computer's operating system (OS) starts. This ensures that the system remains secure before the OS loads, preventing unauthorized access to encrypted data.

The CP_R81.20_Harmony_Endpoint_Server_AdminGuide.pdf on page

223, under "Authentication before the Operating System Loads (Pre-boot)," explains:

"only authorized users are given access to information stored on desktops and laptops" by requiring authentication before the OS loads.

This pre-boot authentication process typically involves entering a password, using a smart card, or providing a token response in a pre-boot environment displayed by the Endpoint Client before the Windows or other OS boot sequence begins. This aligns with Option C ("To authenticate before the computer's OS starts").

* Option A ("To authenticate before the computer will start") is misleading; the computer powers on and starts its hardware initialization, but the OS does not load until authentication occurs. "Before the computer will start" implies the hardware itself won't power on, which is inaccurate.

* Option B ("To answer a security question after login") is incorrect because pre-boot protection occurs before the OS login, not after.

* Option D ("To regularly change passwords") relates to password policy (covered on page 264 under "Password Complexity and Security"), not the immediate requirement of pre-boot protection.

- B. Consolidated security functions
- C. decentralized management
- D. Single policy

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 58

You're going to prepare a Deployment Scenario of an Endpoint Security Client on a Windows machine in an On-Prem environment. You choose one of two basic deployments - which is typical for a local deployment?

- A. Agent (Initial Client) and Software Blades packages
- B. Agent (free Client) package only
- C. Agent (Initial Client) package only
- D. Agent-less (no Client) and Software Blades packages

Answer: A

Explanation:

For typical local (On-Premises) deployments, the deployment scenario includes both the Agent (Initial Client) and Software Blades packages. The Initial Client ensures connectivity, and Software Blades provide the actual security functionalities.

Exact Extract from Official Document:

"Typical local deployment scenarios include both the Initial Client and the Software Blades packages for comprehensive protection."
