ISTQB Advanced Test Management Exam v3.0 - ISTQB Sample Questions (Q42-Q47):

NEW QUESTION # 42

Which of the following is a way in which risk analysis drives test analysis?

- A. It determines which tests should be executed first
- B. It influences the type of reporting that will be used during execution
- C. it drives root cause analysis for any defects found
- D. It guides the selection of test conditions that must be covered by testing

Answer: D

Explanation:

* Role of Risk Analysis in Test Analysis:

* Risk analysis identifies areas with the highest likelihood and impact of failure, enabling the test team to focus on critical functionalities.

* It is used to determine test conditions that must be addressed to mitigate risks effectively.

* Evaluation of Options:

* A is incorrect as determining test execution order happens during test execution, not analysis.

* B is correct because selecting test conditions is part of test analysis influenced by risk levels.

* C relates to reporting and is unrelated to test analysis.

* D pertains to defect management, not test analysis.

References and Syllabus Alignment:

* This aligns with risk-based testing as described in "Risk Analysis and Risk-Based Testing" (TM-1.3.1).

- A. Trends in the lag time from defect reporting to resolution
- B. Mean time between failures for the system
- C. Requirements coverage
- D. Cumulative number of reported defects versus cumulative number of resolved defects

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 44

Consider the following statements describing the importance of improving the test process:

I. Test process improvement is important because being focused only on the test process it can provide recommendations to improve the test process itself, but it can't indicate or suggest improvement to areas of the development process

II. Test process improvement is important because it is much more effective than software process improvement to improve the quality of a software system

III. Test process improvement is important because several process improvement models (STEP, TPI Next, TMMi) have been developed over the years

IV. Test process improvement is important because every organization, regardless of the context, should always achieve the maximum level of maturity of testing described in the test improvement models such as TMMi

Which of the following answers is correct?

K2 1 credit

- A. I., II. and III are true; IV. is false
- B. I., II. and III. are false; IV. is true

- D. Metrics for reporting on the review effectiveness, efficiency, and progress

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 46

After a selection process you have selected a test management tool that is going to be introduced in your organization and used by your test team in a pilot project.

You have already identified the member of your test team who will be the administrator of the tool, since he/she has a significant experience with the administration of test management tools and so he/she is able to make effective and efficient up-front decisions about "how" the tool will be used. You have also developed a training plan for the other members of your test team.

In collaboration with the administrator of the tool you have also devised standard ways of managing, storing and maintaining the tool and its assets including backup/restore procedures.

You have also analyzed standard formats supported by the tool (CSV, XLS, XML, etc.) to export, import and archive all the information managed by the tool itself (requirements, test case specifications, test plans etc.) for compliance with the most important test management tools, in order to minimize the impacts of migrating this information to a new tool that could replace the existing one in the future.

Which of the following phases in the lifecycle of the new tool has NOT been adequately considered in this description?

K2 1 credit

- A. Evolution
- B. Retirement
- C. Support and maintenance
- D. Acquisition

Answer: A
