IAPP Certified Information Privacy Professional/Europe (CIPP/E) Sample Questions (Q298-Q303):

NEW QUESTION # 298

When does the European Data Protection Board (EDPB) recommend reevaluating whether a transfer tool is effectively providing a level of personal data protection that is in compliance with the European Union (EU) level?

- A. On an ongoing basis.
- B. After a personal data breach.
- C. Every year.
- D. Every three (3) years.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 299

Which statement is correct when considering the right to privacy under Article 8 of the European Convention on Human Rights (ECHR)?

- A. The right to freedom of expression under Article 10 of the ECHR will always override the right to privacy
- B. The right to privacy protects the right to hold opinions and to receive and impart ideas without interference
- C. The right to privacy is an absolute right
- D. The right to privacy has to be balanced against other rights under the ECHR

Answer: D

Explanation:

Article 8 of the ECHR protects the right to respect for private and family life, home and correspondence.

However, this right is not absolute and can be subject to limitations by a public authority in accordance with the law and for a legitimate aim. The European Court of Human Rights (ECtHR) has developed a two-stage test to determine whether such limitations are justified. First, the court must examine whether there is a legitimate aim pursued by the public authority, such as national security, public safety or the prevention of crime. Second, the court must assess whether the means used by the public authority are appropriate and necessary to achieve that aim, taking into account all relevant factors such as proportionality, necessity and less restrictive alternatives<sup>12</sup>. Therefore, the right to privacy is not an absolute right but a qualified one that has to be balanced against other rights under the ECHR. References:

NEW QUESTION # 301

Which of the following is the weakest lawful basis for processing employee personal data?

- A. Processing based on legal obligation.
- B. Processing based on employee consent.
- C. Processing based on fulfilling an employment contract.
- D. Processing based on legitimate interests.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 302

With the issue of consent, the GDPR allows member states some choice regarding what?

- A. The circumstances in which silence or inactivity may constitute consent
- B. The age at which children must be required to obtain parental consent
- C. The mechanisms through which consent may be communicated
- D. The timeframe in which data subjects are allowed to withdraw their consent

Answer: B

Explanation:

The GDPR states that the parental consent mechanism generally applies when the child is younger than 16 years<sup>1</sup>. Processing personal data will be lawful only if the child's parent or custodian has consented to such processing<sup>2</sup>. However, Member States are allowed to lower this threshold in national legislation up to 13 years old<sup>3</sup>. This means that Member States have some choice regarding the age limit for children's consent, as long as it is not below 13 years. The GDPR also requires that the consent request is clear and understandable for the child, and that the controller makes reasonable efforts to verify that the consent is given or authorised by the holder of parental responsibility<sup>4</sup>.
