Microsoft Power Automate RPA Developer Sample Questions (Q85-Q90):

NEW QUESTION # 85
You need to resolve the fulfillment status flow issue.
Which three actions should you perform? Each correct answer presents part of the solution.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

- A. Ensure that all users are signed out from the target machine.
- B. Ensure that the flow is not using elevated privileges.
- C. Trigger the flow by using an on-premises data gateway.
- D. Use different local Windows accounts for all machines.
- E. Ensure that the flow instance does not remain in the queue for more than three hours.

Answer: A,C,D

Explanation:
To resolve the fulfillment status flow issue, you need to perform three actions:
Ensure that all users are signed out from the target machine. This will prevent any interference or interruption from other users who might be logged in to the same machine where the desktop flow is running1.
Use different local Windows accounts for all machines. This will ensure that each machine has a unique identity and credentials for running desktop flows1.
Ensure that the flow is not using elevated privileges. This will avoid any security risks or errors that might occur when running desktop flows with administrator rights1.

NEW QUESTION # 87

You need to address the issue with the capacity planning flow. What should you do?

- A. Create a gateway cluster.
- B. Create a machine group and add machines to the group to handle requests.
- C. Increase the CPU and memory of the machine on which the gateway is hosted.
- D. Configure the system to send alerts when the gateway fails.

Answer: A

Explanation:
According to the scenario, the capacity planning flow fails when the gateway is offline. To avoid this issue, you can create a gateway cluster that consists of two or more gateways that share the same configuration and data sources. This way, if one gateway is offline, another gateway in the cluster can handle the requests and ensure high availability for your flow.

NEW QUESTION # 88
You need to resolve the issue with the DataCollector flow.
What are two possible ways to achieve the goal? Each correct answer presents a complete solution.
NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point

- A. Remove the Focus text field on a web page actions that precede actions which write data to text fields.
- B. Configure the Populate text field on a web page actions to continue running the flow in case of error.
- C. Modify selectors to ensure that field attributes are mapped correctly.
- D. Replace the Populate text field on a web page action with the Send keys action to write data.
- E. Add an If web page contains action to determine whether a field exists and write data only when true.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:
Explanation
According to the scenario, the DataCollector flow sometimes fails because some fields on web pages are missing or have different attributes than expected. To resolve this issue, you can use one of these two methods:
* Add an If web page contains action before each Populate text field on a web page action to determine whether a field exists on the web page and write data only when true. This way, you can avoid errors caused by missing fields.
* Modify selectors for each Populate text field on a web page action to ensure that field attributes are mapped correctly and match those on web pages. This way, you can avoid errors caused by mismatched attributes.

NEW QUESTION # 89
You are a Power Automate developer for a company.
The company receives many requests for proposal (RFPs) by email. The company wants to automate the extraction of information from the email attachments. RFPs have a semi-structured format with standardized sections and tables containing information that the company needs.
Contract management users need to be able to view and validate the RFP documents and data.
You need to quickly deploy a solution to meet these requirements.
Which three actions should you perform? (Choose Three)

- A. Create a Power Automate flow in Microsoft Teams from a template.
- B. Create a form processing model in SharePoint Syntex.
- C. Use the document automation toolkit.
- D. Assign the Document Automation Reviewer role to the Contract management users.
- E. Create and publish a document processing model in AI Builder.

Answer: C,D,E

Explanation:
You should use the document automation toolkit. The document automation toolkit contains pre- built Power Automate cloud flows to automate the processing of documents received by email using AI Builder together with a Power Apps canvas app that allows users to view the documents and validate the data extracted from them.
You should also create and publish a document processing model in AI Builder. The document automation toolkit supports both the pre-built invoice processing AI Builder model and custom document processing AI Builder models. You need to create a custom document processing model for the RFP documents, publish the model, and then configure the document automation toolkit to use the model.

Finally, you need to assign the Document Automation Reviewer role to the Contract management users. This role provides the users with access to the app and also the Dataverse tables where the processing data is extracted into.

You should not create a Power Automate flow in Microsoft Teams from a template. There are multiple templates for using Teams and AI Builder, but they do not provide the ability to process emailed document attachments and Teams does not provide the ability to review and validate the documents after the data has been extracted.

You should not create a form processing model in SharePoint Syntex. SharePoint Syntex uses AI Builder models for documents in a SharePoint library. SharePoint Syntex does not allow you to validate the documents.
