Oracle Cloud Fusion Analytics Warehouse 2023 Implementation Professional Sample Questions (Q30-Q35):

NEW QUESTION # 30

You are required to join the Fusion Applications data extracted through FAW with external data. Which approach would meet your need?

- A. FAW Semantic Model Extensions provide the ability to join the tables.
- B. You must join the two sets of data in the ADW schema.
- C. External data and Fusion data cannot be joined.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

You can use FAW Semantic Model Extensions to customize the semantic model and join the Fusion Applications data with external data. You can extend ready-to-use dimensions with additional attributes from another data source, add a fact to an existing subject area, and reorganize the ready-to-use subject areas to create a new subject area to name a few

NEW QUESTION # 31

Oracle Fusion Analytics Warehouse (FAW) offers certain functionality as preview features for you to try. You want to enable the preview features in your environment.

What would you do?

- A. Ask your FAW Service Administrator to enable the preview features in your existing FAW instant
- B. Open a Support Request (SR) with Oracle support.
- C. Provision a new FAW instance

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

The way that you can enable the preview features in your environment is to ask your FAW Service Administrator to enable the preview features in your existing FAW instance. The FAW Service Administrator can use the Enable Features option on the Console page to turn on or off individual preview features at any time<sup>5</sup>. You do not need to open a Support Request (SR) with Oracle support or provision a new FAW instance for this purpose

NEW QUESTION # 32

Your team has multiple developers, each dedicated to one functional area.

How would you create an environment for multi-user customization of the semantic model?

- A. You have to use OAC tools, such as the data modeler, for this purpose.
- B. Each developer has to create their own branch and perform all modifications inside the branch.
- C. Currently, there is no way to create a multi-user development environment.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

To create a multi-user development environment for customizing the semantic model, each developer has to create their own branch and perform all modifications inside the branch. The branches can be merged with the main branch after testing and validation<sup>6</sup>. OAC tools are not required for this purpose.

NEW QUESTION # 33

You have created a fact, a dimension, and a new subject area using Data Augmentation.

You want to extend the dimension in your newly created subject area by adding new attribute data source. What steps are required to achieve this?

- A. The dimensions created in Data Augmentation are not available in Semantic Model Extensions.
- B. The only available option is to modify your ADW custom schema and your Data Augmentation.
- C. Create a branch and add "Extend a Dimension".

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

You can extend the dimension that you created using Data Augmentation by using Semantic Model Extensions. You need to create a branch and add a step of "Extend a Dimension". You can then select the dimension that you want to extend and add a new attribute data source from another table or view

NEW QUESTION # 34

You want to scale up your associated Oracle Autonomous Data Warehouse (ADW) and OAC as part of your FAW customization. Who can help upscale the ADW and OAC capacities?

- A. Oracle Support
- B. OCI Administrator with access to OCI pages for OAC and ADW instances
- C. FAW - Functional Administrator

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

To scale up your associated Oracle Autonomous Data Warehouse (ADW) and OAC as part of your FAW customization, you need an OCI Administrator with access to OCI pages for OAC and ADW instances. The OCI Administrator can use the OCI Console or APIs to scale up or down the compute resources (CPU cores) or storage resources (terabytes) for both ADW and OAC instances
