NEW QUESTION # 265

A VMware Administrator needs to restore a VM after a recent server patch update has corrupted the VM operating system.

What is the quickest way to restore the VM?

- A. From ONTAP System Manager, create a FlexClone of a Snapshot before the patch update, and mount to vSphere
- B. From ONTAP System Manager, rollback the datastore volume containing multiple VMs to a previous Snapshot
- C. From vCenter vSphere client, use SnapCenter Plug-In for VMware vSphere to restore the VM
- D. From the SnapCenter Server, use SnapCenter Plug-In for VMware vSphere to restore the VM

Answer: A

Explanation:

Creating a FlexClone from a pre-patch Snapshot is the quickest, space-efficient method to restore a single VM without affecting others in the datastore. It enables immediate access to the VM's previous state without a full restore or rollback of the entire volume.

NEW QUESTION # 266

A customer wants to replicate between their two NetApp ONTAP clusters but is concerned that replication traffic might slow down normal data traffic. They still have two unused network ports on every node. You recommend using dedicated ports for the Intercluster LIFs, and you are tasked with creating the Intercluster LIFs so that they are on dedicated ports at all times. Which command must you use before creating InterCluster LIFs?

- A. network ipspace create -ipspace
- B. network interface failover-groups create
- C. system services firewall policy create
- D. network interface service-policy create

Answer: D

Explanation:

To ensure Intercluster LIFs are bound to dedicated ports and used only for replication traffic, you must first create a service policy that defines the LIF's role (e.g., intercluster). The network interface service-policy create command allows you to specify that the LIF is intended strictly for intercluster services, ensuring it's isolated from data traffic.
