NEW QUESTION # 149

Which type of sell side equity revenue is earned when a dealer acts in the capacity of an agent in clients trade?

- A. Commission
- B. Interest
- C. Spreads
- D. Fees

Answer: A

Explanation:

In the context of sell-side equity revenue, when a dealer acts as an agent for a client's trade, the revenue is typically earned as a commission. The dealer facilitates the trade between buyers and sellers without taking ownership of the securities, earning fees for providing this service.

* Commission: Earned when the dealer acts as an agent.

* Spreads: Earned when the dealer acts as a principal, buying securities at one price and selling at a higher price.

* Fees: Charged for additional services, such as research or analytics.

* Interest: Earned from financing activities or margin accounts, not directly tied to trading.

* A. Fees: Incorrect; fees are typically charged for services, not for acting as an agent.

* B. Spreads: Incorrect; spreads are earned when the dealer acts as a principal.

* C. Interest: Incorrect; interest revenue is unrelated to acting as an agent.

* D. Commission: Correct answer. Acting as an agent involves earning commissions for facilitating trades.

NEW QUESTION # 150

What bond should an advisor recommend to someone who wants to hold bonds and maximize potential capital gains when interest rates are expected to fall?

- A. A long-term bond with a low coupon.
- B. A short-term bond with a high coupon.
- C. A long-term bond with a high coupon.
- D. A short-term bond with a low coupon.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Along-term bond with a low coupon will maximize capital gains when interest rates fall. Here's why:

* Long-term bonds are more sensitive to interest rate changes due to their longer duration, which amplifies the price movement.

* Low coupon bonds are more affected by changes in interest rates compared to high coupon bonds because more of their value comes from the principal repayment rather than periodic interest payments.

Other options:

* Short-term bonds: Have lower duration and less sensitivity to interest rate changes, so they do not maximize capital gains.

* High coupon bonds: Are less sensitive to interest rate changes because of their higher periodic cash flows.

* Volume 1, Chapter 7: Fixed-Income Securities: Pricing and Trading, section on "Impact of Maturity and Coupon on Bond Prices" explains the relationship between interest rate changes, bond duration, and price sensitivity.

NEW QUESTION # 153

When acting as a principal, how do investment dealers generate revenue?

- A. Through brokerage charges.
- B. Through tracers.
- C. Through commissions
- D. Through spreads on buy/sell prices.

Answer: D

Explanation:

When acting as principal, investment dealers buy and sell securities for their own account. They generate revenue by earning spread, which is the difference between the price at which they buy securities (bid price) and the price at which they sell them (ask price). This is distinct from their role as an agent, where revenue is earned through commissions on trades executed on behalf of clients.

* A. Through commissions: Commissions are earned when acting as an agent, not as a principal.

* B. Through tracers: This term does not apply to revenue generation.

* C. Through brokerage charges: Brokerage charges relate to fees imposed on client accounts, not principal trading spreads.
