CompTIA A+ Certification Exam: Core 2 Sample Questions (Q330-Q335):

NEW QUESTION # 330

A user needs assistance installing software on a Windows PC but will not be in the office. Which of the following solutions would a technician MOST likely use to assist the user without having to install additional software?

- A. MSRA
- B. RDP
- C. SSH
- D. VPN

Answer: A

Explanation:

MSRA stands for Microsoft Remote Assistance, and it is a feature that allows a technician to remotely view and control another user's Windows PC with their permission. MSRA is built-in to Windows and does not require any additional software installation. To use MSRA, the technician and the user need to follow these steps:

On the user's PC, type msra in the search box on the taskbar and select Invite someone to connect to your PC and help you, or offer to help someone else.

Select Save this invitation as a file and choose a location to save the file. This file contains a password that the technician will need to connect to the user's PC.

Send the file and the password to the technician via email or another secure method.

On the technician's PC, type msra in the search box on the taskbar and select Help someone who has invited you.

Select Use an invitation file and browse to the location where the file from the user is saved. Enter the password when prompted.

The user will see a message asking if they want to allow the technician to connect to their PC. The user should select Yes.

The technician will see the user's desktop and can request control of their PC by clicking Request control on the top bar. The user should allow this request by clicking Yes.

The technician can now view and control the user's PC and assist them with installing software.

NEW QUESTION # 331

A technician is installing new software on a macOS computer. Which of the following file types will the technician MOST likely use?

- A. .exe
- B. .vbs
- C. .app
- D. .deb

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

The file type that the technician will MOST likely use when installing new software on a macOS computer is .app. This is because .app is the file extension for applications on macOS.

NEW QUESTION # 332

While browsing a website, a staff member received a message that the website could not be trusted. Shortly afterward, several other colleagues reported the same issue across numerous other websites. Remote users who were not connected to corporate resources did not have any issues. Which of the following is MOST likely the cause of this issue?

- A. An upstream internet service provider was flapping.
- B. A router was misconfigured and was blocking traffic.
- C. The time or date was not in sync with the website.
- D. A bad antivirus signature update was installed.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

The most likely cause of this issue is that a router was misconfigured and was blocking traffic. This would explain why remote users who were not connected to corporate resources did not have any issues.

NEW QUESTION # 333

A technician needs to recommend the best backup method that will mitigate ransomware attacks. Only a few files are regularly modified, however, storage space is a concern. Which of the following backup methods would BEST address these concerns?

- A. Full
- B. Off-site
- C. Grandfather-father-son
- D. Differential

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 334

An administrator responded to an incident where an employee copied financial data to a portable hard drive and then left the company with the data. The administrator documented the movement of the evidence. Which of the following concepts did the administrator demonstrate?

- A. Implementing data protection policies
- B. Preserving chain of custody
- C. Informing law enforcement
- D. Creating a summary of the incident

Answer: B

Explanation:

Preserving chain of custody is a concept that refers to the documentation and tracking of who handled, accessed, modified, or transferred a piece of evidence, when, where, why, and how. Preserving chain of custody can help establish the authenticity, integrity, and reliability of the evidence, as well as prevent tampering, alteration, or loss of the evidence. An administrator who documented the movement of the evidence demonstrated the concept of preserving chain of custody. Implementing data protection policies, informing law enforcement, and creating a summary of the incident are not concepts that describe the action of documenting the movement of the evidence.
