CompTIA A+ Certification Exam: Core 1 Sample Questions (Q136-Q141):

NEW QUESTION # 136

A user keeps getting an error message when trying to print a letter. The printer is normally used to print cards and invitations. The user tries printing from a different computer, but the issue persists. Which of the following should the user do to resolve the issue?

- A. Change the paper tray setting.
- B. Print on card stock
- C. Print fewer pages.
- D. Replace the rollers.

Answer: A

Explanation:

If a printer is set to use a special tray (for cards/invitations) but a different type of print job is attempted (like a letter), a paper tray setting mismatch can cause errors. Changing the tray setting to match the print media resolves the issue.

From CompTIA A+ 220-1101 Official Study Guide, Objective 4.3 - Troubleshooting printers:

"If print jobs fail when media type changes, verify and adjust the paper tray settings to match the required output." Verified Source:

NEW QUESTION # 137

A computer is experiencing random shutdowns. A technician notices that the fans on the computer work but are noisy. The CPU temperature is about 122°F (50°C) when the computer is started but rises to 208°F (98°C) when applications are opened. Which of the following would most likely fix this issue?

- A. Replacing the power supply
- B. Adding more RAM to the computer
- C. Installing a high-performance heat sink
- D. Adjusting the fan settings

Answer: C

Explanation:

Excessive heat buildup due to insufficient cooling is a primary cause of unexpected shutdowns. A high-performance heat sink improves thermal transfer, dissipates more heat, and helps maintain CPU temperature within safe limits. When CPU temperatures reach levels like 208°F (98°C), the system may shut down to prevent damage.

NEW QUESTION # 138

Which of the following best represents the purpose of NFC?

- A. Direct connection of two computers for file sharing
- B. Wired connections between several devices
- C. Wireless connections between multiple devices at once
- D. Short-distance wireless connections between two devices

Answer: D

Explanation:

NFC (Near-Field Communication) is a subset of RFID technology designed for very short-range wireless communication, typically within a few centimeters. It is primarily used for contactless transactions, like mobile payments, and can also support peer-to-peer data exchanges. NFC operates at 13.56 MHz and enables devices to communicate when placed near each other.

NEW QUESTION # 139

A user is unable to access secure applications on their tablet when working from home a couple days per week, but the applications work when in the office. Which of the following services most likely needs to be reconfigured to allow for remote work?

- A. Mobile device management
- B. Global Positioning System
- C. Near-field communication
- D. Wi-Fi Protected Access

Answer: A

Explanation:

Mobile Device Management (MDM) software often controls access to corporate resources based on location, network, or VPN status. If the MDM is not configured to allow access from outside the office or via home networks, the apps may be blocked. This is the most probable cause if apps work only on-premises.

Option A: GPS is used for location services, not access control.

Option C: WPA is a Wi-Fi security protocol, not related to access restrictions.

Option D: NFC enables close-range communication - irrelevant to app access.

CompTIA A+ Core 1 Exam Objective Reference:

Objective 1.6: Given a scenario, configure basic mobile device network connectivity and application support.

NEW QUESTION # 140

Which of the following tools would a technician use to connect wires to an RJ45 connector?

- A. Cable stripper
- B. Crimper
- C. Loopback plug
- D. Punchdown

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

A crimper is specifically used to attach RJ45 connectors to the ends of network cables. It presses the connector pins into the cable's wires, establishing a secure electrical connection. A punchdown tool is used for wiring patch panels or keystone jacks, not for attaching connectors.
