ECCouncil Certified Threat Intelligence Analyst Sample Questions (Q36-Q41):

NEW QUESTION # 36
In which of the following attacks does the attacker exploit vulnerabilities in a computer application before the software developer can release a patch for them?

- A. Active online attack
- B. Advanced persistent attack
- C. Zero-day attack
- D. Distributed network attack

Answer: C

Explanation:
A zero-day attack exploits vulnerabilities in software or hardware that are unknown to the vendor or for which a patch has not yet been released. These attacks are particularly dangerous because they take advantage of the window of time between the vulnerability's discovery and the availability of a fix, leaving systems exposed to potential exploitation. Zero-day attacks require a proactive and comprehensive approach to security, including the use of advanced threat detection systems and threat intelligence to identify and mitigate potential threats before they can be exploited.
